

Hamlin Needs Better Tourist Facilities, Local Survey Shows

Hamlin, located at the crossroads of Highway 83 and 92, should be a convenient stop for tourists, but indications are it will be just another dot on the map.

Principal reason is the lack of adequate tourist facilities in the city. There is an urgent need here for camps, courts, homes and hotel accommodations so the motorist may be able to spend the night without having to drive another 35 to 40 miles.

Highway officials predict this year's tourist trade will exceed that of 1947 and will probably exceed that of pre-war times. Hamlin's better gas stations which offer tourist accommodations such as clean rest rooms and drinking fountains will handle more business than the smaller competitors.

Hamlin's famous friendliness will go a long way toward causing tourists to remember "the West's best" of the smaller cities and some of them no doubt will be searching for a new home while on vacation.

True tourist trade is not measured by the transients who happen through but by the travelers who stop on return trips. The average motorist is constantly searching for friendly service, good beds, clean food at dollar and cents value.

On an average West Texas tourist courts have low rates in comparison to costs east and west and in other states. Our gasoline is also cheaper than in the East where prices at some points range up to six cents more per gallon.

Major oil companies have estimated that there will be four per cent more demand for gasoline this summer than there will be supply. The shortage will be chiefly in the Middle West states. Hamlin service station men believe the demands will easily be met here.

Where are the tourists coming from? A local survey shows license plates on cars from California, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and others—mostly from the northern portion of the country. Southern tourists usually are late in "hitting the road" for the summer vacation.

By mid-summer peak of the tourist trade should be reached and Hamlin is missing a mighty big business when inadequate tourist facilities cause those traveling dollars and dimes to glide on down our highways to other towns and cities not one-half as friendly as ours.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harbert of Abilene a daughter, named Johnnie Anne, Thursday, June 24 at 6:40 a. m. in the Hamlin Memorial Hospital.

U. S. Flag Will Be Displayed Monday By Hamlin Firms

This year, Independence Day, July 4th, falls on Sunday and Hamlin merchants will display United States flag Monday, when most of the business houses will be closed, according to the local Chamber of Commerce.

There are eight special days upon which the flag of the United States should be displayed: Lincoln's Birthday, February 12; Washington's Birthday, February 22; Mother's Day, second Sunday in May; Memorial Day, May 30th; Flag Day, June 14; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, first Monday in September and Armistice Day, November 11th.

The flag is not mere material, but a living symbol, without front or back, but all Flag through and through—and its own right and left. If on a staff, then the peak of the staff becomes the head and honor position, next to which the union is placed.

When displayed in a window the flag should be placed the same way; that is, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street.

It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaffs in the open.

Mrs. R. L. Moore, Local Resident, Is Buried in Abilene

Mrs. R. L. Moore, 76, resident of West Texas for many years, died at her Hamlin home of a heart ailment Saturday morning. She had only been ill but a few days.

Funeral was under direction of Elliott Funeral home of Abilene. The body was at the family residence here until about noon Sunday and then was taken by an Elliott coach to Abilene for funeral at the First Methodist Church. Dr. Will C. House, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hamlin, officiated and burial was in Cedar Hill Cemetery beside the grave of her husband who died here in 1938.

Mrs. Moore was born in Franklin county, Illinois, Feb. 17, 1872, and came to Texas in 1884. She was married to Mr. Moore in Rising Star in 1889 and the couple moved to Abilene from Merkel in 1919. Her husband was a contractor. After his death she moved to Hamlin where she since had made her home with a daughter, Georgia Moore, who teaches in the Hamlin schools.

Surviving are the daughter; five sons, J. M. and Ira of Sweetwater, Roy and R. N. of Fort Worth and Otis Moore of Corpus Christi and one sister, Mrs. Martha Musick of Hamlin.

Palbearers were G. R. Bennett, Joe Simpson, M. T. Hudson, Frank Waggoner, Ed Bailey and Henry Jackson, all of Hamlin.

Texas Department Store Sales Has Slight April Drop

Sales of Texas department and apparel store slid two per cent from April to May according to a report to The Herald early this week from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Dollar sales were fractionally below May 1947. Compared to the first five months in 1947, department and apparel store sales for a like period in 1948 expanded six per cent.

From May 1947 to May 1948, sales of department and apparel stores varied from a 25 per cent rise in Taylor to a nine per cent dip in Denison.

In May 61 per cent of net sales were made on credit compared to 63 per cent in April and 57 per cent in May 1947. The collection ratio was 54 in May, 52 in April and 58 in May 1947.

Hamlin Lions Club Install Officers

STANLEY CARMICHAEL

Stanley Carmichael, local automobile dealer, was installed Tuesday as president of the Hamlin Lions Club by Marvin C. Culbertson of Vernon, governor of Lions District 2-E.

The installation featured the weekly club luncheon at the high school cafeteria.

Lions Governor Culbertson presented a scroll to retiring President I. R. Huchingson, who in turn presented the President's pin to Carmichael. The new executive then presented Huchingson with the past president's pin and certificate.

Other officers installed included: First vice president A. G. Irwin; 2nd vice president Jim Howard King; 3rd vice president Clyde Angel; Secretary C. C. Bailey; Treasurer Ouis Crawford; Tail Twister, Herman Treadwell; Lion Tamer, Arlie Cassie; Song Leader, Herman McBride; one year directors, Claude Lancaster and Edgar Duncan; two year directors, Travis Hash and A. Spencer.

Visitors present were: "Cut" Culbertson, son of the district governor; Marvin York of Dallas and a Mr. Simon, traveling man.

Wheat Grindings Show Decline

Wheat grinding slid two per cent from March to April, according to a report to The Herald early this week from the Bureau of Census reports to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Compared to April 1947, wheat grindings dropped eight per cent to 3,533,000 bushels in April 1948.

Plenty of Truth In This Story---

There are as many ways of shaking hands as there are hands to be shaken. What kind of a grip is yours?

One kind of handshake is the "dead fish." You thrust out your hand expecting to get a warm, friendly grip, and what you get is a cold piece of meat laid in your hand; dead lifeless, expressionless, just lying there. You give it a squeeze and drop it, much as if you had unwittingly picked up something unclean.

Then there is the pump-handle shake. This fellow clutches your hand like a man who has fallen into the river and is being helped out. He hangs on to it and pumps it up and down for dear life, keeping up the exercise until you finally pull away in desperation.

Another kind of handshake is the one-critter. When you extend your hand he doesn't give you a chance to get hold of him but grips your fingers like a vise, and squeezes them until, when you get loose you have to pull each one from the other separately, hoping, in spite of the pain, that none of the points will actually drop to the floor. He is delighted if he can make you squirm, and if you exclaim with the pain he chuckles gleefully.

Finally there is the man who clasps your hand warmly, heartily, gives it a sympathetic pressure, and releases you neither embarrassed by sloppiness nor agonized by his display of strength. That is the man whose greeting is always a pleasure. That is the man we all like to meet.—Jungle Tales, Fiqua, Ohio.

Criswell Funeral Is Held Friday, June 12

J. S. Criswell, a resident of Hamlin for about 34 years, passed away Friday, June 11 at 6 p. m. and funeral was held June 12 with burial in East Cemetery. Barrow Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Minister J. C. Scott of the local Church of Christ, officiated.

Mr. Criswell engaged in farming up until a few years ago. In his earlier life he had taught school for a six year term.

Eight children, four daughters and four sons were born to Mr. Criswell and the first Mrs. Criswell, who passed away a number of years ago.

Criswell children are: daughters Mrs. Mary Lomas, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Ara Norred, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Francis Moore, Casper, Wyoming and Mrs. Lucerne Chapman, Dallas. Sons are O. R. and Lewis of Hamlin; Robert of Throckmorton and Pete Criswell of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Criswell's sons, N. C. and H. E. Brackeen of Fort Worth attended the funeral, together with other out-of-town relatives.

Cotton Flea Hopper History Is Recalled By Scientific Study In State

No Under-Age Child Accepted Next School Year

Hamlin School Board in a recent meeting passed a resolution that no under-age children could be received during the 1948-1949 school term.

Their decision is based on a compliance of the law governing the acceptance of under-age children. School law states that under-age children may be admitted on a tuition basis only if the admission of such children does not produce or add to the crowded conditions of children of qualified age.

Since 110 six-year-olds were enumerated, it is very apparent that a crowded condition will exist, with three sections of the first grade, without the admission of "unders," according to the local board.

The State considers any number over 30 per class is representative of a crowded condition, it was pointed out.

It is explained that an under-age child is one born after September 1, 1942. Thus a child born on September 2, 1942, or following cannot be received.

Slaton Tigers, Hamlin Team Play Monday

Local baseball fans will have an opportunity Monday, July 5th, at 8:30 p. m. to witness "the real McCoy" when the Slaton Tigers meet Hamlin at the City Park.

"Old Folks" Tuffie McCoy is bringing his Slaton Tigers to town to battle "Runt" McCoy and his star Hamlin players.

Slaton is tied for first place in the Oil Belt League and the team's manager is said to have boasted he is coming to Hamlin for the sole purpose of "pinning down the ears" of the Hamlinites. To which pitcher McCoy retorts: "Slaton will be on the scoreboard alright, but it will be a bunch of goose eggs."

24 Year Service Button Awarded To Hamlin Man

Twenty-year service buttons were awarded to David C. Rogers of Hamlin, Aubrey L. Foster of Stamford and Walter R. Weaver of Spur at the quarterly safety meeting of the West Texas Utilities Company recently held in Stamford.

Previous the company had presented twenty-five year service buttons to Tom Smith of Stamford and Larren D. McAfee of Aspermont.

M. P. May, Pioneer, Passes Away Friday After Heart Attack

Marcus Parker May, 77, retired Hamlin merchant and father of Tate May, local banker, died at 4:15 p. m. Friday after suffering a heart attack at his home. He had been ill for two months.

Funeral was held at 4:00 p. m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church here. Rev. A. R. Posey, pastor, was in charge of the service, assisted by Rev. J. Henry Littleton, Lucifers, Barrow Funeral Home directed burial in the Hamlin Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Morton of Hamlin and Mr. and Mrs. Harris of Rotan sang. Mrs. W. C. Russell played the organ.

The body was in state at the First Baptist Church from 3:00 p. m. until 4:00 p. m.

Rev. Olie Brown of Rotan assisted in the service, Dr. W. C. House of the First Methodist Church offered the prayer.

Palbearers were deacons of the First Baptist Church.

Many friends attended the funeral from Abilene, Colorado City, Anson, Stamford and Rotan.

May was born in Sumpter County, Alabama May 3, 1871, where he spent his boyhood days. He attended college in Louisville, Kentucky. On April 26, 1893, he was married to Emma Tate of Cuba, Alabama. They continued to reside in Alabama until 1908, at which time they moved to McCauley. Here for a time he was associated with his brother-in-law, J. A. Martin, in the mercantile business. Subsequently he engaged in farming at McCauley and in Dawson County. Then in 1920 he moved to Hamlin where in later years he was in the furniture business.

Mr. and Mrs. May celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary April 26, 1943.

Survivors are the widow, seven children and eight grandchildren. The children are Tate and John May of Hamlin; R. A. of Colorado City; James Truett of Los Angeles, California; M. P. Jr. of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. C. C. Rister of Norman, Oklahoma and Mrs. J. Frank Johnson of Rotan.

Mrs. W. J. Johnson Heart Attack Victim Is Buried Saturday

Mrs. W. J. Johnson, 74, who died unexpectedly of a heart attack in Hamlin Friday morning, was buried in East Cemetery after funeral at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Church of Christ.

Mrs. Johnson was found dead by her daughter, Viola Johnson when Miss Johnson went home for lunch Friday. The two made their home together here.

Bruce Proctor, Church of Christ minister from Abilene, officiated at the rites and Barrow Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Johnson had lived in Hamlin 27 years. Her husband died 12 years ago.

Survivors include two daughters, Miss Viola Johnson and Mrs. Besie Jones of Lubbock; one brother, Levi Harkey of San Saba, and three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Thornton, Mrs. Zedie Funderburk and Mrs. Joe C. Taylor, all of San Saba.

Other survivors are three grandchildren: Leland E. Jones, Lake-side, Arizona; Mrs. O. E. McMakin, Lubbock and Mrs. Quannah Maddox, Lubbock; also eight great-grandchildren.

All were present for the funeral except Leland E. Jones and family who arrived late.

Rev. Travis, Abilene To Preach Sunday

Announcement is made that the Rev. Travis of Abilene will preach at the Fairview Baptist Church, both morning and evening, Sunday, July 4th.

All members are urged to be present and the public is extended a special invitation to attend, according to J. L. Wilson.

(NOTE—The following article is the first of a series on cotton insect control, prepared by Bill Terry, manager of the Mid-West Cooperative Oil Mill. The Herald is publishing these stories as a public feature to area farmers for cotton betterment in the area.)

Flea hopper infests cotton throughout the entire Cotton Belt. The greatest damage is caused in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, but some years losses are also serious in other states.

The winter is passed as eggs in the stems of Cotton (goatweed) and other weeds and to some extent in cotton. The eggs hatch early in the spring and the population now builds up rapidly on certain tender weeds, such as horse mint, Cotton and evening primrose.

There is some movement to cotton weed hosts becomes tough. The ton and this migration increases as rainfall is favorable to the breeding on cotton, which continues as long as plants are succulent. After the active squaring season is past, the flea hopper returns to weeds to feed and to lay their overwintering eggs.

Both the winged adult and the hoppers are very active and are wingless nymphs or young flea-hoppers. It is difficult to see until one becomes accustomed to looking for them. Both stages feed on juices of the tender parts of the cotton plants, especially the terminal buds and small squares.

The leaves become deformed and somewhat ragged in appearance, but the greatest damage is caused to the small squares, which are often killed when no larger than a pinhead. The injured squares turn to a brown or black and fall from the plants while so small that they are frequently overlooked and the failure of the plants to bloom is some unfavorable conditions. The infestations attributed to weather or other factors grow taller and more whiplike, with fewer large branches than normal plants, and usually produce only a few bolls near the tops. A generation of flea hoppers requires from two to three weeks and this pest often becomes sufficiently numerous on cotton to cause almost complete loss of the cotton crop.

Flea hopper Control.

If the cotton is not squaring properly or if young cotton fails to set small squares, the tips of the main stem (terminal buds) of the plants should be examined for flea-hoppers. Dusting should be started when 15 to 25 flea hoppers (depending on the size of the plants) are found per 100 terminal buds.

Dust with 12 to 15 pounds per acre of five per cent DDT sulphur mixture. Sulphur alone will control young flea hoppers, dusted from five to seven day intervals.

If infestations are heavy or very large numbers of flea hoppers are continually moving into cotton four to six dustings with sulphur may be needed.

Experimental work to date indicates that two applications of DDT dust will control flea hoppers throughout the season.

Hamlin Receives 3.08 Inches Rain Past 10 Days

Rain—that glorious four-letter word in dry territory—fell again last week-end, dumping approximately 1.31 additional inches of moisture to bring the total for the past 10 days to 3.08 inches.

The dry spell came to an end Wednesday of last week when 1.77 inches of rain fell in the afternoon and evening.

Hamlin's upper lake west of the city ran over the spillway and the additional week-end rains sent 27 inches of water into the big south lake early Sunday.

The city has now received 9.93 inches of rainfall for the year, which is slightly above one-half of normal.

The fields east and south of town were too wet for plowing up to Wednesday noon.

BATTLE OF BRAINS... In a grinding three-hour competitive examination at the A. and M. College of Texas, 215 honor graduates of Texas high schools fought it out for fifty thousand dollars worth of college scholarships. The fifty winners, who will receive four-year Opportunity Awards at Texas A. and M. College, were announced today. Selected on the basis of need, scholarship, leadership and character, winners will receive $2500 to $3000 per year, plus an opportunity to earn other college expenses for their full four years.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Uneasy Truce Prevails in Palestine; No Talks With Russia, Truman Says; Draft Machinery Set to Begin Work

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

HOLD FIRE

Still No Peace

For a little while the dove of peace drifted over Palestine on frayed and weary wing as Arab and Israeli armies were observing, more or less loosely, a four-week truce in the war for possession of the Holy Land.

At best the United Nations-supervised truce agreement was a fretful and uneasy affair. Before the four-week mediation period was two days old both Arabs and Jews had begun charging each other with violations of the pact.

Count Folke Bernadotte, U.N. truce negotiator, was investigating the accusations, but it looked very much as though another security council cease-fire order might go unloved, unhonored and unobeyed.

Actually, it is difficult to see how any synthetically imposed truce could succeed in Palestine. There are no basic grounds upon which a genuine interruption of hostilities could rest. Both sides profess military proficiency and the ability to keep on fighting and winning.

And, more important, each side is fanatically opposed to modifying its demands: Israel is determined to retain its sovereignty and to have unlimited immigration of Jews into the state. The Arabs are just as determined to erase the state of Israel from the map.

Thus, there is little confidence in the security council's truce plan and its power to effect peace. And that pessimism was heightened by the knowledge that no U.N. cease-fire edict has worked yet.

Aside from the seriousness of the struggle for Palestine itself, deep significance of the affair lay in the fact that it is raising once more the old question of whether any world peace organization of nations ever can succeed in the task it sets for itself—the maintenance of peace and order on earth.

Pressure of world opinion—which is all the U.N. security council can bring to bear, lacking both military teeth and the power to bring economic sanctions against offending nations—apparently is not going to be enough, at least in the case of Palestine.

One inference which may be drawn is that the U.N. will need more power of one kind or another before it can prevail against the fetish of blind, militant nationalism that has hurled the world into two major wars already in this century.

PRESIDENT: About Russia

Forsaking for the moment the political whiplash he has been using on congress during his western tour, President Truman issued a major enunciation of U.S. foreign policy, bounded on all sides by an indictment of Russian tactics, in a speech at Berkeley, Calif.

His address was the clearest cut answer thus far made to the recent spurious but widely publicized Soviet offer to talk over Russian-American differences and the issues of the cold war.

Although the Soviet overture patently had been made as a last-ditch effort to derail the European recovery program and also slow down

Bingo!

INFLATION AND TAXES

Vacations Cost More This Year

If you haven't been on a vacation since 1940 and you are planning one for this summer, you're probably in for a shock—the kind that makes the bankroll tingle.

For depending on the kind of vacation you take and the brand of recreation you prefer, vacation costs in 1948 have jumped from 20 to 100 per cent over comparable the U.S. military preparedness program, it undoubtedly carried a great propaganda impact abroad and, to a smaller extent, inside the U.S.

President Truman's Berkeley speech was a creditable reply.

His theme was that the Soviet Union is acting as an aggressor and obstructor of world peace, and he postulated the theory that there is no likelihood of settling disputes between the two nations by negotiation so long as Russia continues to wield international communism as a weapon to influence the course of world events.

The American intent, he said, is to deal with the East-West cleavage by deeds, not propaganda.

"We shall judge the policy of every nation by whether it advances or obstructs world progress toward peace and we wish our own policy to be judged by the same standard."

As a measuring stick for that principle Mr. Truman suggested that Russia begin the demonstration of her good intentions, if any, by halting the perilous strife in Greece and Korea.

Thus, both Americans and Russians know where the U.S. stood. And from this side of the ocean it looked to be as good a place as any

DRAFT: Machinery

Peacetime selective service actually had been all but a reality for months before President Truman put his signature to the draft bill.

The gears, wheels and levers of the draft machine needed but a flick of the finger to start turning out citizen-soldiers for the benefit of the nation.

So much spadework has been done that the office of selective service records estimated that it could have inductees on the way in 60 to 90 days after the law becomes effective.

Those 19-to-25 year olds eligible for service can expect something like this:

There will be no hoop-la or gold-fish bowl drawings. Instead of being determined by lottery the order of induction probably will be figured out according to age groups.

It is likely that 21-year-olds will start the proceedings. After the registration, all men over 21 and under 22 would be classified. Those not exempt would be put into Class 1A as eligible for immediate induction. Whether the first age group selected would be exhausted before another is called up had not yet been decided.

Military authorities estimate that about two out of every three men in the 19-through-25 bracket who are single and non-veterans will have to serve in the army, navy, air force or marines, either as draftees or volunteers. Roughly, there are about 1,552,000 single non-veterans in that age group.

The whole business will have a familiar ring for Americans who can, without half trying, remember the details connected with getting an army together for World War II.

U. N. SITE: Changeable

Not that it's an original idea, but another move is reported to be getting under way quietly to switch the United Nations headquarters from the U. S.

Geneva, Switzerland, is being mentioned as the substitute site, although nations supporting the idea are taking no open steps and are confining their efforts currently to laying groundwork for the real drive which may be expected to emerge this fall at the Paris assembly.

The whole plan might go down the drain, however, if congress were to approve the 65-million-dollar loan to the U.N. for building the projected skyscraper headquarters in Manhattan.

As usual, there is a play of forces behind the scenes on this question. The Arab states favor moving the U.N. to Europe, primarily because they are bitter over the success Zionist Jews have had in influencing the U.S.

Britain originally wanted a European site and might, under certain conditions, revert to that stand. Russia, another question mark, is expected to grasp the opportunity to attack the U.S. for failure to keep promises should congress fail to approve the loan.

City Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Girard Van Bar-kaloo Hale of Santa Barbara, Calif., "adopted" the war-ravaged French village of Maille in 1946, subsequently sent 12,000 gifts of food and clothing to its inhabitants. Now they've gone to Maille to receive the personal thanks of the 366 persons whom they shepherded through the hard years.

AID CASH: And Politics

Although its funds were still in a state of confusion as a result of a combination of congressional economy and GOP political machinations, the economic cooperation administration nevertheless managed to toss off the biggest bundle of foreign relief cash so far.

Paul G. Hoffman, ECA administrator, approved the assignment of $95,610,605 for 10 European countries, including Trieste, and China. The action brought total Marshall plan authorizations from available funds to $393,737,029.

Countries sharing in the new approvals were Great Britain, The Netherlands, France, French zone of Germany, Austria, Denmark, Italy, Norway, Greece, Trieste and China.

The assignment of almost 96 million dollars in foreign aid funds served to point up the squabble set off in congress when the house voted to spread the recovery funds over 13 months instead of 12, thereby producing the effect of slashing aid appropriations by one to two billion dollars.

While the senate restored the appropriations cut, many U.S. leaders were gravely worried about another possible significance of the house action.

Theory was that the house, by cutting ECA appropriations, demonstrated that Republican organization bosses are determined to fight, and reverse if possible, the line of foreign policy represented by the Marshall plan.

It was thought to be part of a larger plan to gain control of the Republican party and to defeat the new postwar GOP leaders—Vandenberg, Dewey, Stassen and Warren—by chipping away the cornerstone of the foreign policy they all profess.

The situation had the outward appearance of chaos, but behind it lurked the business of playing election year politics while permitting the rest of the world to go hang.

MIDDLE INCOME: That's $2,920

Any American family which could add up the wages it received in 1947 and get $2,920 for the total had earned a "middle income," according to the way the federal reserve board has it figured out.

That "middle income," up $320 from 1946, incidentally, means that half of all the 42 million U.S. families made more than that while the other half made less.

About 69 per cent or 28,980,000 families had a joint income of $2,000 or more last year. By contrast, in the mid-1930s fewer than 6.6 million families had incomes at that level. But a dollar bought considerably more then than it does now.

Twenty-one out of each 100 families rated incomes above $5,000 in 1947, while eight of that group got more than $7,500 a year.

However, not all were in the top money. Of each 100 families 13 had incomes under $1,000 and another 18 earned between $1,000 and $2,000. But even many of the well-to-do were unhappy about the whole thing. They felt that they were becoming worse off financially because of the high cost of living.

According to the federal reserve board's sample survey, those persons who own their own business or manage somebody else's earn the most money. Middle income for families headed by "a managerial or self-employed person" was $4,500.

Next on the list were professional workers with a middle income of $4,000. Skilled and semi-skilled workers followed with $3,000, clerks and salespeople with $2,900 and unskilled workers with $1,800.

Weigh Your Words?

Scientists with a will to weigh have developed at the Rahway, N.J., Merck institute for therapeutic research a scales so incredibly delicate that it records the weight of a puff of air from a single wave of the hand.

The scales are being used to weigh potent new drugs and also to weigh the energy spent by animals placed under the influence of medicinal drugs.

Washington Digest

GOP Wanted Mac's Return; Oh, Yes, They Surely Did

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator

PHILADELPHIA.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, in regretfully regretting his inability to accept the senate appropriation committee's invitation to come to Washington to testify on the Far Eastern situation, said he'd rather wait until after the national political conventions; that he didn't want to get any political implications mixed up with his visit.

Regular Republicans solemnly accepted the general's response just as if they hadn't moved heaven and earth to keep him from accepting. Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire remarked gravely at the time that if anything should happen while MacArthur was away (from Japan), he (Senator Bridges) certainly wouldn't want the responsibility of having the general back here (Oh, dear no!).

The enthusiastic political amateurs who urged that the general be invited finally were quieted down to the dismay of the Democrats who wept loudly into their beards when they heard the general would not come. But there was enough danger of ructions, rows and revolt among contenders for the Republican nomination without taking chances on a military appeacart upstetter.

MacArthur in the United States, marching under arches of triumph, enjoying the laying on of leis, not to mention being cheered and perhaps even voted for by a few starry-eyed elephant cubs, was no pleasant thought for the Republican regulars to contemplate. On the other hand this contingency would fill the simple Democratic soul with joy beyond compare.

We observed the same sweet innocence as to the objectives of President Truman's recent little informal tour of the country. As Chairman Reece of the Republican national committee remarked before he left: "It (the trip) will be as non-political as the Pendergast machine," which indicates the nature of the inter-party amenities which may be expected from now on.

It is indeed a tragedy that this quadrennial sporting event—a presidential election—in which we go through all the motions of tearing our adversaries to pieces, accusing them of all the crimes in the calendar just as if we meant it, should have to take place while wars cold, if not hot, seem to be breaking out all over.

It is probably a fine thing however, that, as civilization progressed, we changed our methods of choosing a leader.

In the old days it was a very simple process. When the eldest son had reached that point of strength and wisdom where he felt it was relatively safe to argue with papa the two of them took up their clubs, the ladies and younger children made a circle, and father and son held an election. It didn't take long, and the best man won.

The ladies buried the defeated candidate, and tribal life continued tranquilly until the first Tuesday after the first Monday of the month and year that junior thought auspicious.

Nowadays, we stretch the affair out for a whole year or more. The Russians have simplified elections by removing one candidate beforehand which eliminates much of the element of chance. With us the contest is highly absorbing and, just as the sabre tooth tiger often sneaked in and carried off some of the tribe while the others were watching the "election," so all sorts of things happen to us when we have our minds on the political race.

This time there is some danger that a large fat bear may grab off a large chunk of oil-land while we are watching the events leading to the November finals.

Union of Nations To Secure Peace

Recently Gen. Omar Bradley, chief of staff of the army, made a masterful argument for an unselfish and positive effort for peace, along with an idealistic appeal that we steer "by the stars, not by the light of each passing ship."

"In our hatred and renunciation of war," said General Bradley, "we must not forget that the roots of conflict flourish in the faults and failures of those who seek peace, just as surely as they take shape from the diseases and designs of aggressors. While the American people have within themselves the moral strength, the power and wisdom to marshal their forces against aggression in whatever form it affects—we cannot feign innocence through indifference or neglect of struggles that bring on wars. We have suffered enough in two world wars to know that non-involvement in peace means certain involvement in war."

"Either we shall employ our strength, power and conscience, boldly and righteously in defense of human dignity and freedom, or we shall waste those reserves for peace, and default to the forces that breed new wars."

Wars can be prevented, said Bradley, just as surely as they can be provoked, and therefore "we who fail to prevent them must share in guilt for the dead."

That thesis of General Bradley's that it requires positive peacetime action to stop wars is concurred in by Clarence Streit, president of Federal Union, Incorporated, an organization working for the federalization of the free countries of the world.

Streit's argument, made before the house foreign affairs committee, did not get the publicity it should. Streit said that only through freedom can peace come.

Specifically, if the free nations unite in a federation (by free nations, he refers to nations which are not dominated by any foreign power and where at least the theory of democracy, as we understand it, obtains) these free nations can assure peace. He suggests as charter members of the federation the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Switzerland, Belgium, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Denmark, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Eire, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Streit says further that power can be divided into four suits, like a deck of cards, and that these 15 democracies, if they federate, can hold every ace. He lists them:

"The Ace of Clubs: Armed power. Not only would their soldiers, if united, number as many as Russia's and be much more mobile and better-equipped, but this union would begin by having the bulk of the world's airpower; 90 per cent of its naval tonnage; advance bases everywhere on earth; 100 per cent atomic power.

"The Ace of Spades: Productive power. Despite the tangle on tariffs and currencies, these democracies outproduce the rest of the world. Think what they could do with a free flow of trade similar to that among our own states!

"The Ace of Diamonds: Raw material power. No need of separate stockpiling of essentials. These nations would produce 50 to 90 per cent of most of them.

"The Ace of Hearts: Moral power. This union would unite all lands towards which the rest of humanity has looked for refuge from oppression and leadership toward liberty. Nothing can appeal to men so deeply as can individual freedom—and to back it up with every ace is to add irresistible authority to its appeal."

I think that is a very concise and logical statement. Western Europe already is moving toward a union, slowly, out of necessity, because there is NO OTHER WAY!

The peoples of the world do not want war; the free nations, having achieved freedom, have no cause for war except to defend that freedom. The federation could maintain freedom without war, for no one would dare challenge it.

Convention Coverage Took Much Planning

Convention hall in Philadelphia, as the Republican convention got under way, was no sight for the sore eyes of Harold McGrath and Bob Menasha, superintendents respectively of the senate and house radio galleries and Bill Henry, president of the Radio Correspondents association.

Since October, 1947, they've practically been commuting from Washington to Philadelphia to inspect the hall, plan where broadcasts should originate, decide where network and independent radio news broadcasters of varying degrees of importance should be seated, confer with Republican and Democratic politicians, supervise hotel accommodations and, most vital of all, hurt nobody's feelings in the process.

Four hundred and 36 radio news-men were assigned to cover the Republican convention as compared to the 40 radiomen accredited eight years ago and 160 in 1944.

Forty-four organizations in addition to the four major networks originated broadcasts from the convention; 31 of these shows came from the hall itself. Others originated in the 14 other facilities scattered around the building, some on the stage of the hall, some in the basement and so on.

Congressional Record

TO anyone but the most naive the pattern cut by the Republican controlled 80th congress during the past two years is a crystal-clear indication of what will happen in the 81st congress starting next January.

Unless there is an upheaval of the seemingly apathetic public opinion not now apparent, the Republican party likely will retain control of both houses of congress, may even enlarge control and, if the GOP captures the presidency as well, the unsavory record of this congress will have been just a starter, an eye-opener of what will happen next year.

While the sins of omission of this congress have been many, in the opinion of this reporter, its sins of commission write a chapter in legislative history almost unparalleled in the annals of this country. It is with this record the Republican party must go to the people in the November campaign.

What are its noteworthy accomplishments in behalf of the people? On the domestic front it passed the Taft-Hartley labor reform law. Whether it is a good law or not is yet to be demonstrated. It passed a curtailed draft bill in the closing minutes almost at the point of a gun. It cut taxes for one year but faces deficit financing and must boost the taxes back up next January.

Despite the statement of some leaders, this reporter predicts that congress will not return for a pre-election session after the national conventions. After adoption of a platform, it will be better politics to go to the voters with promises than with performance, and a convention platform is merely a promise to perform.

It appropriated money for national defense far beyond what the military establishment and the President said were necessary. On the foreign front it adopted the Truman doctrine for aid to Greece, Turkey and other nations and adopted the administration bi-partisan European recovery measure only after house isolationists almost had wrecked the entire program and endangered the nation's world leadership. That is the record.

The sins of commission include a record of irresponsibility and disregard of the consequences of their acts which brand congress as unaccountable or politically ineane. Time and time again the whole congress, a majority in both house and senate, by record vote has committed itself on both foreign and domestic issues and then by the stupid or mischievous actions of a few leaders congress has welshed on its solemn record vote.

The most flagrant example, of course, was the willful and insane economy of Congressman John Taber of New York, with the approval of Speaker Joe Martin and Majority Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana, in slashing 25 per cent from the authorized appropriation for the European recovery program.

Invasion of Authority

The second set of sins of commission was the persistent attempt by this congress to set itself up as arbiter for the supreme court and also as controlling the executive department of the government. Many times congress has sought to override the decisions of the supreme court and has done so by repealing or amending the laws in question when congressmen didn't like a supreme court ruling. Outstanding examples were in the portal-to-portal pay law, Tidelands oil grab, extension of the social security law and lifting of anti-trust laws in favor of the railroads and insurance companies.

Many times, both senate and house leadership has sought to invade the rights and powers of the executive branch of the government.

The sins of omission in this congress make a long list. It failed to pass an adequate housing bill, a long-range farm program, a new wage and hour law, federal aid to education, a national health law, an anti-monopoly law, extend social security, reduce government expenditures or the number of government employees.

By its acts congress has demonstrated that it is determined to kill or curtail the 15-year policy of cheap public power in favor of the private power interests; that it eventually will junk reciprocal trade agreements in favor of a high protective tariff. It will either kill or emasculate farm cooperatives so as to make them ineffectual. It will abandon the 40-year irrigation policy in favor of large land owners and against the small 160-acre farmers. It will further curtail reclamation appropriations

Live Out Of Doors! No Need To Break Your Budget Obtaining Attractive Lawn Furniture

By DONALD R. BRANN

Make your porch, terrace or lawn an outdoor living room — turn your backyard into a picnic ground. You'll be agreeably surprised to see what fun dining out can be. Food takes on an added zest when flavored with the thrill of a picnic.

You can build wonderful pieces of lawn furniture at very low cost. The set illustrated above was built from patterns. These patterns take all the mystery out of woodworking. Each shows the full size, shape and length for cutting each part. Wherever two parts are fastened together, the exact location is indicated on the pattern.

Making a home is traditionally American. The strength of the country rests on the people who have built a home for themselves and their families. Building lawn furniture or any other home equipment is not difficult. You can do it if you try. Each pattern is designed so that no special tool or skill are required. Build this lawn set for immediate use. You'll save money and have fun building it. All materials pattern specifies are stock size and readily obtainable at lumber yards everywhere.

Take it for what it may be worth, but observers of certain facts are emerging to show that Yugoslavia is Tito, by the way, seems to have united the Serbs are firmly convinced that behind the Iron Curtain is the weakest link in Russia's chain of slave camps, and Croats in something of a silent hatred for his anti-Catholic regime. . . . Underground opposition to Tito is believed to run as high as 90 per cent. . . . You will note that Stalin had to do something in a hurry, despite a relative importance of the Italian election, to put some props under "trembling Tito." . . . Behind-the-counter dealing is going on so rapidly over Yugoslavia one may expect almost anything to happen within the next 90 days.

A mantle of gloom hangs over our shipping docks at the moment because of the deepening post-war slump in shipping business. . . . Foreign operators using considerable foresight, got in-on the cream of the shipping business to such an extent some American operators have seen volume drop by at least one-third. . . . Only a couple of years back U. S. flag ships carried around 70 per cent of all United States export cargo (excluding petroleum). In the year just behind us this volume dropped to 57 per cent. . . . U. S. labor costs are so much higher than anywhere else on the globe that foreign operators can do the job, show a profit and keep going at levels that would break U. S. shippers. . . . It will be out of line to see the next Congress drum up the idea of increased aid for our merchant marine.

Straws in the early morning breeze indicate the butter interests after all can yet win their fight against legislation removing federal taxes from oleomargarine.

Convention Hall Sidelights . . .

Governor Dwight Green, of Illinois, the convention keynote delivered one of the able speeches of the convention, definitely had the lightning rod up on the vice-presidency. However when the Illinois delegation broke from Green, it went, not to Dewey, but to the hopeless candidacy of Senator Taft. Green couldn't deliver.

For the first time network television carried the live scenes of this convention to the eastern seaboard from Richmond north to Boston. . . . All television networks "pooled" their shots and fed through a central broadcast station so that all networks received the same coverage.

"Canned" television took the story inland. Around Philadelphia every television set was tuned into convention hall and even in the lounges at the meeting outside the convention floor, the television was for many a much more popular and comfortable method of "covering" the proceedings than the actual convention itself.

Insects Hinder Texas Cotton

In a report to The Herald from the A&M College Cotton experts conditions in various sections as of June 22 were as follows.

Extremely hot dry weather is causing cotton to mature in some Southern Counties, especially on the lighter soils and is reducing insect populations in such areas. But, the boll weevil continues to get a relatively high percentage of the early squares in many fields of the south-central, central and north-central Texas. The average percentage punctured squares in 541 fields examined this week in 44 counties was 17, as compared to 16 per cent last week and seven per cent for the same date a year ago.

There was a reduction in fleahoppers per 100 terminals as compared to 11 last week and 13 a year ago.

Condition in the various sectors were as follows:

Lower Rio Grande Valley—Non-irrigated maturing rapidly. Boll weevil infestation in 117 fields averaged 14 per cent. Flea hopper infestation was reduced from 11 per 100 terminals last week to three this week. Bloom inspections indicate a heavier pink bollworm infestation than last year.

Coastal Bend—In 57 inspected fields showed a total of 85. Fleahoppers averaged 10 per 100 terminals, the same as last week. Control for fleahoppers and boll weevils is needed in some fields, particularly in Jim Wells and Kleberg Counties.

Upper Coastal Area—Boll weevils were still numerous in most undusted fields in several counties and control measures are needed, particularly in Wharton and Jackson Counties. Fleahoppers averaged 14 per 100 terminals this week as compared to 10 last week and 21 a year ago. Much dusting has been done in this area for fleahopper control and the results have been extremely satisfactory. In some fields control measures for fleahoppers would be highly profitable.

South Central—In general the boll weevil population was rather high in this area. Fleahopper infestations were high in some fields. Combination weevil and fleahopper control would be profitable in many fields in this area.

Central—Fleahoppers are taking a heavy toll of the early squares in many fields and boll weevils are getting a high percentage of the squares reaching 1-3 grown or larger. Fields should be checked carefully for insect damage and control measures applied immediately if needed. Fleahopper infestation in 144 fields was 11 per 100 terminals this week the same as last week.

North Central—In most fields cotton is so small for accurate square infestation records. A limited number of records made indicated high weevil infestation in a few fields with the average running rather low, eight per cent punctured squares.

In the Northeast, East, Cross Timbers and Northwest areas cotton is too small for square infestation records. A few records from these areas indicate low boll weevil populations in most Counties. Fleahopper populations are high in Freestone County averaging 45 per 100 terminals but in other areas the population is comparatively low.

Grasshoppers and thrips are still causing damage in many areas.

Confident Republicans Choose Dewey-Warren Team for 1948

The Herald is carrying this story of the Republican Convention as a service to its readers. Demos will follow soon.

By WALTER A. SHEAD
WNU Washington Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA—Bowling over all opposition in an unchecked power drive toward the coveted goal of 548 votes, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, swept to victory on the third ballot at the Republican National Convention.

After a night of speculation on vice-presidential candidates which included the names of Charles Halleck, of Indiana; Senator John Bricker, of Ohio; Governor Warren was put forth as the Dewey choice for the post.

Governor Earl Warren, governor of California, was nominated to the vice-presidency by acclamation after Arizona had withdrawn the name of Harold E. Stassen.

Actually the colorful New Yorker's nomination came by unanimous vote after he had demonstrated unprecedented strength on the first ballot over six other contenders for the nomination. Governor Dewey polled 434 votes on the first ballot to 224 for Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, his nearest competitor, with former Governor Harold E. Stassen trailing in third place with 157 votes. Senator Arthur Vandenburg, of Michigan, polled 62; Senator Raymond Baldwin, of Connecticut, 19; Speaker Joe Martin, of Massachusetts, 18; Carroll Reese, of Tennessee, chairman of the GOP national committee, 15; General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, 11; Governor Dwight Green, of Illinois, 56; Governor Alfred E. Driscoll, of New Jersey, 35; Governor Earl Warren, of California, 59, and Congressman Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, 1.

Governor Dewey won the nomination because he had the best organization, because his opposition underestimated his strength and despite the fact it broke a Republican party precedent of never having nominated a losing candidate.

The two-time nominee, he was the party's standard bearer in 1944, was given a tremendous ovation when he came into the convention accompanied by his personable wife. His nomination came swiftly after Senator John Bricker, of Ohio, had withdrawn Senator Taft's name and Stassen had himself gone to the platform to withdraw in favor of Dewey. They were quickly followed by Governor Warren, of California, and the others.

Governor Dewey told the delegates he accepted the nomination "unfettered by a single obligation or promise to any living person." His acceptance speech, which evidently had been prepared in advance, since it was delivered in mimeograph form to the press before he made it, was on a high plane of a "spiritual upsurge."

"Our problem," he said, "is most of all spiritual. Our problem is not outside ourselves. Our problem is within ourselves. . . we have devised noble plans for a new world. Without a new spirit, our noblest plans will come to naught."

Dewey In Center Of Early Activity

Governor Dewey came into the convention as the leading candidate, with approximately 350 votes pledged to him on the first ballot and possibly some 50 to 75 votes as a reserve upon which he could count after favorite son candidates had been moved out of the picture. The New York governor's managers decided however, after they failed to improve the governor's position in the first two days of the convention, to shoot the works on the first ballot in an effort to start a bandwagon stampede of delegates for the New Yorker. The maneuver, clever psychologically in many instances, became known as the Dewey "blitz."

It had one effect, however, it united the other leading candidates in a move to "stop Dewey." Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, second man, with some 250 or more delegates on the first ballot and former Governor Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, with some 175 delegates, along with the Connecticut state chairman, Governor Kem Sigler, of Michigan, and some other delegate leaders held a meeting at which they canvassed the situation and decided that Mr. Dewey did not have the votes he claimed.

Further, the Dewey "blitz" didates started the wild and tumultuous session which lasted long into Wednesday night, there had been little enthusiasm and actually small crowds attending the convention. There was an air of tenseness and responsibility about these delegates which did not lend itself to hilarity, or horse-play to any large degree.

These delegates gathered here were all convinced they were naming the next President of the United States . . . that 1948 is a sure winner for the Republican party.

The best demonstration up to the roll call of states came when Herbert Hoover, former president and GOP elder statesman was escorted to the platform by Alf Landon, of Kansas, the 1936 nominee. Mr. Hoover was given a 16-minute demonstration and he made a sturdy, if aged picture there with the klieg lights beaming upon him.

Foreign Aid Plank Features Platform

Highlight of the 1948 GOP platform and chief bone of contention in sessions of the resolutions committee was the foreign relations plank. The all-out approval, however, of the European recovery program and support of the United Nations was a clear-cut victory for Senator Arthur Vandenburg, of Michigan, and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts, the chairman of the resolutions committee. While ERP was not mentioned by name the platform plank was clear and strong.

The platform was all-inclusive covering the field of domestic issues including conservation of natural resources, farm price supports, economy in government, against high prices, abolition of useless government bureaus, maintenance of an adequate armed service for sea, land and air; reduction of the federal debt and taxes, elimination of monopoly to aid small business, a sound soil conservation program, development of sound farm credit, encouragement of family-sized farms; progressive development of the nation's water resources for navigation, flood control and power; a comprehensive reclamation program; recognition of the nation's obligation to all veterans and a realistic and adequate adjustment of benefits; housing by private enterprise at lower costs, but federal aid for local slum clearance and low-rental housing; extension of the federal old age and survivor's insurance program and increase of the benefits to a more realistic level; strengthening of state-aid programs to provide more adequate hospital facilities, to improve methods of treatment of the mentally ill, to advance maternal and child health and generally to foster a healthy America.

The civil rights plank included an anti-lynching law, abolition of the poll tax as a requisite for voting, opposition to racial segregation in the armed services and "equality of all individuals in their right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness . . . right to equal opportunity to work and to advance in life not limited because of race, religion, color, or country of origin."

The platform also pledged new legislation against communism, revision of the procedure for election of president and vice-president to "more exactly reflect the popular vote." This plank referred to the Lodge constitutional revision resolution to change the vote procedure of the electoral college. Equal rights for women, equal pay for equal work regardless of sex, educational opportunities for all and giving title of tideland oil lands to the states completed the document.

Parity for Farm Products to Drop After 1949 Period

Farmers of Jones County areas, as well as others all over the country, were concerned this week with the definite government sponsored trend for lower prices for farm commodities.

The new farm price support legislation which Congress sent to the white house in Washington early Sunday would revise the formula for parity, the figure on which price props are based.

A compromise worked out at the eleventh hour of the session would continue most of the present high war-time support levels through 1949 and then put into effect a permanent structure of somewhat lower support.

The new parity formula is designed to bring all commodities under the same plan.

Parity is a calculated figure aimed at keeping the prices of farm products in line with those of other segments of the economy. At the ration that exists in some base period generally favorable to agriculture.

The formula originally was based on the 1909-14 period. But it was found that some inequities resulted and different base periods were designated for specific crops so that at present some 25 or 30 periods are in use.

Under the new formula, worked out by Department of Agriculture economists, it is expected that the 1909-14 period will hold good for all crops.

For agricultural prices as a whole, it is not designed to raise or lower

Oleo Tax Repeal Put Off by Legislature

Members of Congress from the northern dairy states last week-end put the oleomargarine issue on the dead hook for the session that adjourned last Saturday.

People of Jones County and other cotton producing areas of the South were concerned with repeal of the taxes on oleo that hampers the marketing of oleo.

Senator Thye, Republican of Minnesota, said in Washington last week that the measure to repeal all federal taxes on oleomargarine "is very definitely laid away—peacefully and comfortably."

Eugene Reagan of Hillsboro who has recently been discharged from the Army in which he was a captain, visited Hortense Phenix this week.

their present relation to other prices but it would revise somewhat the relation among various farm crops.

Mrs. Adie Meadows and Mrs. Abbie Wade of Mt. Pleasant were visiting their aunt, Mrs. Etta Stephenson the past week.

Are YOU Going Thru CHANGE of LIFE?

causing you to suffer from HOT FLUSHES?

Does the functional 'middle-age' period peculiar to women (38-52 yrs.) make you suffer from hot flushes, feel so nervous, high-strung, irritable, weak? Then try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous for this!

Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such 'middle-age' distress. It's what Doctors call a uterine sedative. It positively contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. Pinkham's Compound helps nature (you know what we mean). It's also a great stomachic tonic! Any drugstore.

Strength of Southwest Farm Markets Varies to Dull Over Last Week Report

Strength or firmness on some products varied the generally dull to weak farm market situation in the Southwest during the past week according to a report to The Herald from the United States Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration. Hogs advanced largely $1 to $1.50 including Monday's rise of 75 cents to $1. Good and choice medium weight butchers sold up to $27 at San Antonio, $27.50 at Fort Worth, and $28.50 to $29.50 at other terminals. Most markets took sows at $22 to $23.50 or a little better. Texas sheep markets showed net gains of around 50 cents for the week, but Denver averaged some decline. Medium and good spring lambs brought $20 to $22.50 at San Antonio, $22 to $24 at Fort Worth, and $27 to $30 at Denver. Oklahoma, $25 to $26 at Fort Worth lambs, while good and choice lots made $30 at Kansas City. Average French combing Texas wools began to move to manufacturers at near $1.60 per clean pound.

Cows and calves sold $1 to $2 lower at Houston, and as much as $1 lower at Kansas City and Denver. Medium grass steers went down some at San Antonio. Other Southwest cattle and calves averaged around steady to 50 cents high. Common and medium cows turned Monday at $15.50 to $18.50 at Houston and San Antonio and ranged from $17 to $21.50 at Fort Worth.

Wichita and Kansas City, Oklahoma City paid $20 to $23 for medium and good grades and Denver took common to good from $19 to $23.25.

Current receipt egg sold generally unchanged at close to support levels. Top quality eggs held especially firm at premium prices. Poultry markets continued firm also. Spring chickens moved mainly at 40 to 42 cents a pound and heavy hens at 25 to 28. Denver paid up to 30 cents for heavybreeds and New Orleans to 36.

New crop sorghum grains from South Texas pushed prices down 25 to 33 cents a hundred since a week ago. Oats lost 11 to 12 cents a bushel and barley and yellow corn fell two to six cents. Wheat closed unchanged from last Monday, and white corn recorded the only gain of three and one-half cents. No. 2 yellow milo closed Monday at $2.92 to $3.10 at Texas common points, and white oats $1.17 to $1.19 at Fort Worth.

Cotton declined $3 to $5.50 a bale for the week. Spot middling 15-16 inch closed Monday at 36.15 cents a pound at Dallas, 36.80 at Houston and 35.90 at Galveston and New Orleans.

ORANGE PEACH SHORTCAKE

A dessert deluxe that brings a triumphant finale to a Sunday dinner is luscious, light-as-a-feather shortcake. A delicate orange flavor and juicy, fragrant peaches combine to make this delicious

Orange Peach Shortcake

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup fortified margarine
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
- 1 cup milk (about)
- 6 peaches, peeled, cut in pieces and sweetened
- 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Sift flour with baking powder, sugar, and salt. Cut in margarine and grated orange rind until mixture is as fine as meal. Add milk, mixing until a soft dough is formed. Knead lightly about 20 seconds.

Roll to 1/8-inch thickness. Cut with 3-inch biscuit cutter. Spread half of the biscuits with margarine and place remaining biscuits on top. Place on baking sheets. Bake in very hot oven (450° F.) 8 to 10 minutes.

Split biscuits and nut together with peaches. Top with sweetened whipped cream. Serves 6.

Each week we will try to give The Herald information about the Hamlin Hospital, which we are glad to know is functioning to the satisfaction of all patients who receive medical service therein.

First, we can tell you that Drs. Hocutt and Haag, are in their offices or on call every hour of each day, except that Dr. Hocutt takes off Wednesday afternoons and Dr. Haag Thursday afternoons.

Second, that a registered nurse is on duty or available by telephone, every hour of the day. The hospital is never closed night or day. An aide is present to take any message, make any call, or do anything needed in an emergency.

Correct information should be well established in the minds of the public and all persons should be careful not to circulate any rumors.

HAMLIN MAN TO WED SWEETWATER GIRL AUGUST 1

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Mizell of Sweetwater have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Almeta, to Richard M. Young, Jr., of Hamlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Young, Sr. Mrs. Mizell gave the announcement dinner Saturday. The ceremony will be read August 1.

Miss Mizell was graduated from Bethany Peniel College in Bethany, Oklahoma, in 1946. She returned to Bethany in January of this year as home economics teacher, and while there was acting head of the department.

Mr. Young was graduated from Hamlin High School and attended Texas Technological College before entering the Army. Since his discharge he has been farming and ranching west of Hamlin.

or "hear-says" that damage our young hospital. The Hamlin Hospital belongs to the people, and it must snap open and grow in usefulness only by being supported by the people of this area. The persons who have used the Hamlin Hospital are the ones qualified to say how they like the services, and any information, honestly sought, can be learned either from such patients or from the management. Nothing is secret if you care to know. It is hurtful to say "so and so is true," when in fact such and such persons said they had "heard a person make a statement that sounded like that, and it must be true."

ANY HOSPITAL POLICY is good at the Hamlin Hospital. Some policies are better than others, and as a matter of fact, a great part of all hospital bills paid at the Hamlin Hospital are paid by insurance companies. If yours is any good, it is good here in Hamlin as well as anywhere in the USA.

WIZARD OF FINANCE

Bernard M. Baruch, the very symbol of prudence and thrift, lost his roll out of his pockets at a race track. The wad, $2,200, was found by a track attendant and returned to the elder statesman. It proved once again that Baruch is long on luck. But it left America feeling low.

That this famous American, whose every word on finance has been clung to as almost the ultimate authority on sagacity, could, even before he reached the betting windows at a race track, lose his roll came as a hard blow to people everywhere. On all sides one heard the cry, "Well, whadda-ya know about that!"

Men who for years had listened to him give sage advice on money matters were stunned. Women who had taunted their husbands a thousand times with, "Did you read what Baruch said about safeguarding money? Why can't you be like him?" swooned. Young people who had seen his picture so often under the caption, "Warns Country to Guard Its Funds," shook their heads. Senators and representatives who had formed a habit of sending for Baruch when they wanted the straight dope on financial stability reeled and groaned.

Other people, we had all thought, could in the excitement of a gala outing in a crowded place, whip out and drop their roll while fumbling for a ticket, green sheet, notes on good things, pencils, programs, et cetera, but not Bernard M. Baruch! Never!

We could picture plenty of men carrying their money carelessly, even to the point of a wallet only halfway in the pocket, but not B. M. B. Baruch gave the finder a reward of $500 and delivered a few brief words of gratitude, but the public is not satisfied.

To restore his prestige he must issue a statement reassuring the American public, the U. S. senate, the house of representatives and all federal economic bodies.

If there is any place to show prudence and caution it is at a race track. Baruch loses his dough BEFORE he even gets down a bet! Impossible! This department, which has been following his advice on money for years, prefers to think it was all a stunt; that he was merely conducting an honesty test. Or that, as a lover of racing, he was trying to offset the bad press it has been getting.

At any rate, speak up, Baruch, and let us have the full details. You don't want husbands everywhere answering a wife's caustic, "Why can't you be more careful with your money?" with a firm, "Aw, look at Bernard Baruch!" do you?

Horse Racing Ethics

"It must be remembered that it is the theory of the pari-mutuel system that the track is a stakeholder only. It receives a commission on the amount wagered and has no interest in the outcome of a race. When it is required to contribute to a minus pool by allowing place and show betting and bears a loss, the effect is to give the track an interest in the outcome of a race, although it has no chance of winning."—Maryland racing commission.

Let's keep the race track operators from being put in the awful position of having a slight interest in horse racing as horse racing, by all means.

Customs Officers Use Mirrors for Smuggler Search

NEW YORK.—Day and night, squads of armed men carrying flashlights and pocket mirrors swarm aboard ships entering New York harbor.

The alert, eagle eyed men of the United States customs enforcement division don't carry the glassware from milady's bag to use in combing their hair or prettifying their features. Pocket mirrors are standard equipment in the grim, unrelenting war on narcotic smuggling.

Placed strategically, a mirror shows up what may be ingeniously hidden behind a lavatory washbowl, a seaman's bunk, or in the machinery of the ship's intricate engine room.

Vigilance of these customs officers has paid off handsomely. In the last year they've confiscated contraband drugs valued at several million dollars in the illicit market, said Harry M. Durning, United States customs collector for the New York port.

N.Y. a "Hot" Port
New York, in law enforcement parlance, is a "hot" port—about the hottest in the world.

International smugglers have renewed efforts to penetrate port surveillance with narcotics for American dope peddling rings. History, said veteran port officials, is repeating itself. A postwar resurgence of narcotic smuggling is comparable to the one after World War I.

Collector Durning attributes the alarming increase to a breakdown of prewar safeguards abroad, worldwide unrest and unsettled economic conditions and the age old desire for quick, high profits.

In tightening their vigil against smuggling, customs officers pay particular attention to all ships coming from French and Mediterranean ports. That's where, they said, most shipments of illicit drugs originate.

Ships from Britain and Ireland, the officers said, seldom figure in drug smuggling. Always suspect, however, said Herman Lipski, chief of the United States customs enforcement division, are vessels coming from Naples, Genoa, Marseille, Le Havre and Antwerp.

Seize Big Catch
Lipski's men recently scored their biggest catch of the year when they discovered narcotics valued at one million dollars secreted about a ship from Le Havre.

One bundle of drugs was found in the ship's galley at the bottom of a full barrel of flour. Another batch, encased in a waterproof bag, reposed in a soup tureen full of water. Other packages were discovered inside the lining of the ship's oven and in a box of sea biscuits.

Another recent haul came when shore patrol officers under Durning raided the basement of a dingy water front tenement. They found 36 ounces of narcotics and complete equipment for testing, diluting and preparing drugs for illicit sale to addicts.

In a drainpipe in the basement they found $18,000 in cash and a pistol. From a man caught fleeing the basement they confiscated four more ounces of drugs. Total value of the catch was placed at $200,000.

Veterans' News

The questions and answers below about veteran problems are carried as a service to former service personnel by The Herald. Material for the column is supplied by the area office of the Veterans Administration at Lubbock.

Q. When is National Service Life Insurance considered lapsed?
A. It is lapsed when a veteran fails to make a payment of premium within 31 days from the date it was due.

Q. If I do not receive National Service Life Insurance premium notices or receipts promptly, should I continue to send my premiums?
A. Yes. You also should clearly identify your payments by giving your insurance policy number, but if that is not available, you should give your rank, organization and your service serial number.

Q. If I filed a change of address with the VA hospital or regional office where my claims folder is on file, will the same change be made on my insurance records?
A. No. Change of address for purpose of compensation or pension is not a notice of change of address for insurance purposes. VA Form 889, "Change of Address," should be executed by the insured to notify the Insurance Service in the appropriate branch office.

Q. When may a veteran decide whether he will pursue training under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (G.I. Bill) or under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act?
A. After eligibility has been established under both laws.

Athlete's Foot Ranks Third in Skin Disease

"Few, if any, people have escaped the inconvenience and the annoyance of athlete's foot. It is said to be the third most common skin disease of the Summer, and contrary to popular opinion, the fifth most prevalent disorder in the Winter."

So says Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer in Austin, in a recent press release. Dr. Cox explains that athlete's foot is due to a small, mold-like growth or fungus which thrives on moist, warm parts of the body such as the feet.

"The infection of athlete's foot is usually gotten directly or indirectly from someone else," Dr. Cox says, cautioning that the most likely places to contract the infection are around bath houses, locker rooms, and other public places where people go barefoot.

"It is probable that at least one-half of all adults suffer from the infection at some time."

Farmers Asked to Contact T.E.C. If Workers Needed

Cotton farmers of the Hamlin area are urged to contact the Texas Employment Commission whenever they need cotton choppers or other farm workers. The Stamford TEC office serves both agricultural and non-agricultural employers in bones Haskell, Thackmorton, Stonewall Clay Beaver, manager emphasized today.

In preparations for handling local and migratory labor during the cotton harvest season the local TEC office is now conducting an extensive survey among the farmers in the four counties served by the office. In this survey it is hoped to obtain information concerning acreage, housing facilities available, number of workers needed for an average crop harvest, with other necessary information toward rendering a much needed service to the individual farmers and to the community as a whole. He stated further that the office is receiving excellent cooperation from farmers, ginners and others who are being contacted.

Farmer, needing any type of workers, are urged to place their orders with the Stamford TEC office or call 52. Several crews of cotton choppers are now available through the office, Beaver concluded.

Red Cross Blood Plan Designed to Benefit Public

The Red Cross National Blood Program is designed to bring the benefits of blood and blood products eventually to EVERYBODY, everywhere in the nation. Medical authorities estimate that at least 3,700,000 pints of blood will be required each year to meet the nation's need in blood therapy. This demand results from remarkable discoveries made in recent years about blood and its uses in the prevention and treatment of disease.

Today there are approximately 6,000 hospitals in the United States. Only one out of every five has a private blood bank. There is no provision for an adequate supply of blood in case of a national emergency. That is why the nation's medical, health, and hospital authorities decided with the Army and Navy that a national Blood Program is needed.

The American National Red Cross is regarded as the most appropriate agency to operate such a program (1) because of its World War II achievement in collecting more than 13,000,000 pints of blood for our fighting men, and (2) because it is already organized in every county of every state of the Declaration of Independence!

He's on his own. It's a wonderful feeling. He can go places now. And he'll keep on going places all his life — as long as he keeps his sense of independence.

That's America's richest resource — not forest, field or mine, but the spirit of her people. Ambition, energy, self-reliance are the reasons why individuals — and industries — grow great from small beginnings.

Take the electric industry — this company, for example. A few practical dreamers opened up an "electric frontier" when in 1915 they strung the first transmission power lines in West Texas. People of faith and vision risked their savings. Other folks combined skill and hard work to produce better and better service — at lower and lower costs — creating more and more jobs — and carrying the benefits of electric living to more and more West Texans.

That's the American way of progress. Free enterprise, vision, and hard work. They are what built America and the American way of life, which is the highest standard of living in the world.

No nation has ever found a satisfactory substitute for that combination. No nation ever will.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living — life itself — is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes — feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

TRUE STORIES of WEST TEXAS

(By N. H. Kincaid, 2618 Victory St. Abilene, Texas—Copyrighted)

GUARDIANS OF THE FRONTIER

Standing at the mouth of Gyp Creek in Kent county was an old China tree, marked with a peculiar defacement. One of its branches had been torn off in such a way that the stump was a sharp-pointed prong. And it was this prong that helped white a story of the early West; a story whose origin was 150 miles away on Sand Creek in western Brown county, just east of the Santa Anna mountain. It was a story of the Bill Williams family, and of Big Foot and his Kiowa braves.

The incident occurred in 1873, just 75 years ago this coming December. Little 12 year old Nina Williams had gone with her mother to the cow lot to do the milking. "Let's take the baby with us, Nina," the mother had said. "He is such an active little fellow he might pull the covers over his face and smother, if left alone."

As Mother was choosing the site to place the baby so that she could watch him as she milked, Nina scoured about for wood and chips for a small fire. The two men folks of the family had left home quite early in order to cut rails down on Jim Ned Creek.

Nina held the baby while Mother built the fire. "Just look at Susie, bawling and squawling for his mother," Nina told the sleepy baby as she pointed out the eager little calf. As Mother placed the baby on the blanket, Nina ran and opened the gate for the waiting cow. Quickly finishing her chores, she then straightened the baby's cover and added the remaining chips to the fire. "Mother, I'll go get some more wood," she called as she clambered happily over the lot fence.

But Nina wandered farther than she had planned and didn't return immediately. A few remaining bright colored leaves down in the draw had caught her attention and she knew that Mother would enjoy their gaily. "Mother does so like pretty things, and she has such a few of them," she told herself as she hurried back towards the cow lot, her arms loaded.

But midway she paused, startled, and listened. There was no doubt about it; that was the baby, and he was screaming as though in pain. Breaking into a run she soon rounded a corner of the small stockade-type shed and stopped—horrorified.

There before her, just mounting their horses for departure, was a small group of Indians. But yonder, through the rails of the cow lot, Nina glimpsed her mother. Her body, slumped forward, was studded with arrows. Nearby lay the baby in a naked, mangled heap. It was Nina's scream that drew the Indians' attention to her. Stooping, one swooped her up onto the horse with him as he hurried to join the others; and Nina's load of sticks and pretty cluster of leaves dropped to the ground, unnoticed.

Throughout the morning they lay there. To her brother, returning home about noon, they were another link in the horrible chain of tragedy served as a mute clue to her disappearance. The alarm was sounded and a hastily formed posse took up the trail of the Indians. It led north; westward into Kent county, and finally was so close that the Indians became desperate.

When the posse found her body it was swinging, impaled to the China tree, with the prong protruding from the neck. Tenderly they laid her to rest near the young tree, and the lonely little grave became the concern of those pioneer settlers around present Claremont.

"We, the Jay boys, built a brush fence around the grave in 1884 and I looked after it for years," recalls Joe Jay, present Abilene real estate man and a founder of Jayton. "But it was that gnarled old China tree, standing there like a

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: We have knotty pine walls in our living room, which have had an application of a penetrating wax. What can we use that would give a smooth, dull gloss, and that would protect the wood?

ANSWER: The material that you used is intended for just that purpose. If more of a sheen is desired, the walls should be given a thin, even coat of paste wax, allowed to dry for 20 minutes or so, and then rubbed well with soft, clean cloths. The smoothness of the finish depends entirely on the sanding and rubbing done on the surface of the wood before any finish is applied.

QUESTION: We have sanded our floors, put on one coat of shellac, and two coats of varnish. The floor is smoothly rough; how can we make it smooth without redoing it?

ANSWER: Go over the rough places with a handful of fine steel wool moistened with turpentine. This will dull the finish, but you can touch it up with a little varnish.

SCRIPTURE: 1 Kings 22:1-40
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 138:1-2

Micaiah, A Prophet of Israel

Lesson for July 4, 1948

WE BEGIN a new series of studies this quarter—a series of lessons based on less known Bible characters that have much to offer us. Such a character is found in Micaiah, about whom we learn in 1 Kings 22:1-40.

Ahab, king of Israel, planned an expedition to recover the city of Ramoth in Gilead, which the Syrians had taken. He invited Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, to join him. Ahab relied upon his court prophets to predict victory; but Micaiah, the prophet of God, whom Ahab had shut up in prison, when he was summoned, told Ahab the truth—the unpleasant truth—which subsequent events verified.

BRAVE ENOUGH TO TELL THE TRUTH

The first blessing in the study of this obscure Bible character, Micaiah, is to discover a man who was brave enough to tell the truth when he knew it was unpopular. It is always the best policy to tell the truth, though there be many in today's world who deny this principle. It is not enough to say that we will tell the truth because it pays. That is true, but it is a by-product of doing what is right. One must tell the truth because it is right to tell the truth. Men swear with their hand upon the Holy Bible that what they testify is the truth and nothing but the truth. But, alas, such men often tell anything but the truth. They have been carefully coached to evade the truth.

Micaiah told the truth, because he was speaking for God. It hurt him, but it must needs be the truth he spoke to Ahab.

TRUTH DISREGARDED
Ahab scorned the words of Micaiah, and ordered him thrown back into prison. But scarcely had the prophet of God been thrust again into prison, until Ahab was bleeding to death in his chariot.

Men not only take their own lives in their hands when they disregard the truth, but, like stubborn Ahab, they bring grief to countless others. Had Ahab heeded the words of truth which Micaiah proclaimed, Ahab might have lived. Indeed, had Ahab heeded the words of truth, he might have recovered Ramoth, and more beside.

Truth may appear forever on the scaffold, wrong forever on the throne, but time always proves a hard taskmaster to the man who regards wrong instead of truth.

THE SOURCE OF TRUTH
GOD is the source of truth—all truth. If we miss this, we miss the lesson of the lesson. Note the words of the golden text, "As the Lord liveth, what the Lord saith unto me, that will I speak," said Micaiah.

Let us remember that it was God speaking through his prophet. Ahab could not have doubted that Micaiah was speaking what God had told him to speak. But Ahab did not want to hear the truth. He wanted to hear pleasing words that would encourage him in his evil plan.

God speaks the first and the last word on every subject, because God is truth. "I am the truth," said Jesus. And he went on to say, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

THE PENALTY OF DISOBEYING THE TRUTH
HORRIBLE, indeed, was the penalty which Ahab suffered for disregarding the truth. The way of the transgressor is hard—always hard. The wages of sin is death. Be sure your sins will find you out.

Take down your cherished books of history. What do they say to you? That the straight line of truth is the only safe way in which to walk. It is applicable for the individual, for the family, for the community, for the nation, for civilization.

On Believing

All over the world now there is a reaction from the superficial talk that it does not make much difference what a man believes. We have learned our lesson. What a man believes makes a world of difference not only in what he does, but what happens to him.

Woman's World Give Summer Clothes Fresh Touches With Simple Tricks

WOMEN'S CLOTHES usually show infinite variety, and the desire for this seems boundless. However, most of us can afford only one wardrobe, if that, for a season, and it's nice when we can do something simple at home to freshen up the dresses.

This year, particularly, women's summer clothing is full of tricks to make them more feminine, more colorful and more summer-like. If you need to perk up the wardrobe a bit, any one of these sewing tricks I'm going to tell you about will do lots for your morale.

Gloves Can Be Decorative

You've never seen gloves within recent years that look like those being shown now. Even gentle pastels are breaking out with a rash of color. Sweet powder blue ones are made more surprising and daring with a flash of cherry red at the wrists. This is easy to do at home even to a pair of white gloves for they can be tinted, and the color added from another piece of fabric.

Of if you are wearing white gloves with a summer print, a piece of that print might be used to decorate the cuffs of your gloves. It takes but a few minutes to cut and sew on.

One of the latest things in gloves is to have ruffles around the wrists.

Perk up dress with capelet . . .

This may be eyelet or lace, in a single or double frilly row. Eyelet or lace is particularly effective if you are going to wear gloves with a dress that is similarly trimmed.

Camisoles Are Popular Under Sheer Blouses

Almost every good looking organdie blouse that is being sold, comes with a camisole. Take the tip if you're planning to make a frilly blouse, and make a camisole to wear underneath it. To be in high fashion, make it fit beautifully, have wide straps on it and a pretty ribbon that you can run through the lace or eyelet.

Or if you are wearing white gloves wear underneath sheer dresses, especially those with sheer tops, you'll be right in step with the times if you make that with a camisole attached.

Slips naturally are longer to fit the longer dresses now being worn.

Or make a blouse for skirt.

so you'll have to take this into consideration if you are using old patterns.

Half slips are made as pretty as the camisoles for many of them come with at least one flounce at the hem, and others with a lot of eyelet decorated with ribbon of course, done up in a nice full ruffle.

Dark half slips are popular under billowy skirts and these frequently have a gay plaid flounce on them, a good idea for lengthening some too short half slips you may already have.

Skirts are being tucked up in one or two places just slightly to show off the pretty flounce underneath and you'll find it a very pretty touch for teen-aged daughter.

Here Are Tips For Basic Dresses

In case your basic dress has become just a little weary you can dress it up with nice simple touches. The first and easiest idea consists of changing the buttons. Elaborate, jeweled buttons are high fashion and can do much to decorate a simple dress.

Another very smart idea for the older or younger woman is the use of a stole with a dark dress. Choose some material in a nice print, or if you want to be more dramatic, a nice stripe with glorious shades of color. All the material needs is finishing at both ends, for it can be draped suitably around the shoulders.

Tricorne Hat

A smoothly rounded tricorne of smooth navy straw is designed by Lewbrook Lowell to complement summer suits or city sheers. Bows of tangerine grosgrain ribbon encircle the head fitting crown.

If you would choose a demurely different touch for your basic dress select a smart and practical capelet collar of pique, sharkskin or one of the lovely crisp whites. These are entirely separate and can be kept immaculately fresh very easily. Select a style with Cavalier points or neckband, according to the needs of your basic dress.

A dark bolero is very good to use on a print dress if you want to make it more sophisticated. Black is a good color to use with pink, aqua or soft green prints. If you like, select a wide black belt to put on the dress to carry out the dark motif in the bolero.

If you have made the print yourself, you may have enough material to make cuffs of the print on the bolero. Wide cuffs are very popular.

If you don't want either capelet or bolero, make up a jacket in a brilliant color to give your basic dress a real lift. Light blue, pink or red goes well with navy; beige or pink go nicely with brown, and green looks well with black.

Freshen Hats With Flowers

Open crowned hats are especially easy to freshen if they have flowers, or ribbon because either of them can be changed.

If the hat is a pastel shade and you want to clean it, dip a soft brush or cloth in cleaning fluid and rub over the hat gently. You then may decorate with new ribbon or flowers to match, perhaps, another suit or dress you are wearing.

These half hats will look especially refreshing and pretty if the flowers are enclosed in veiling. A stunning hat which I saw recently was a navy blue taffeta decorated with soft pink rosebuds enclosed in very sheer navy blue veiling.

If you are the type for a pretty picture hat, you may want to wrap some veiling over the top that comes down underneath the chin to tie as a bonnet. Most of the large picture hats now are being shown with some sort of fastening under the chin.

Straw hats may have their flowers freshened; or you may want to have several sets of flowers that can be snapped on to change with whatever dress or suit you are wearing.

Be Smart!

Pretty, feminine and very new are these slip-on gloves that become dress-up accessories when edged with eyelet embroidery, sheerest organdie trimmed with lace and other tiny ruffles. You'll find these lovelies in fine doekins or suede leathers, in quality suede fabrics or you can add your own trimmings, the better to match a froth of organdie and lace or what-have-you on hat, jabot or fichu.

Spotlight by GRANTLAND RICE

AS FAR BACK as 1934 the rampant spirit of the St. Louis Cardinals brought them the title of the Gas House Gang.

Their 1948 outfit hasn't a Dean aboard—"Me and Paul"—a Delaney, a Pepper Martin, but it has much of the same spirit that has carried the team along so many years.

Spirit is almost as indefinable as color, but it lasts longer. It can become a heritage, which color can't.

As Eddie Dyer put it: "It was nothing but sheer spirit that carried our team from a bad last to second place last summer. When we lost nine straight games to sink deeper into the cellar there was every excuse to quit—especially as we had so many sick or injured men on the squad. But the team refused to quit and that gave me further proof it was about as game a bunch as I ever saw."

"We have many of the same men on our squad this year that came from 10 games behind in August to win some six years ago. Marty Marion—Terry Moore—Stan Musial—Country Slaughter—Whitely Kurowski—some of our pitchers, although we've lost Lanner, White and Beazley from that 1942 squad. But the same old spirit is still there."

"Remember last spring in St. Petersburg, Ducky Medwick was the best-conditioned man in camp—and one of the best hustlers. A lot of years had passed since 1934—but they couldn't affect his spirit. I've seen too many of our men out there hustling when they should have been in a hospital."

"I'll admit we haven't the youngest team in the league, but it isn't too old. It still has the spirit of six years ago when they beat the Yankees four out of five World Series games."

"This is still an open race. The big improvement in the Pirates and Phillies will make a difference. And the Reds no longer will be a soft touch with Blackwell back. It's a tough league in which to set up a winning streak. There are too many good teams and too many good pitchers in your road. This will be the toughest of all races."

Disappointing Red Sox

Last year it was the Cardinals. This year it's the Red Sox. The Cardinals, a 3-to-5 odds-on favorite, still were trying to wiggle off the last place hook around this date last year.

The Red Sox would have been last at the quarter mark this season if the ignoble White Sox hadn't been in the same league—the worst team in big league baseball. Yet the Boston club carries Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr, Dom DiMaggio, Johnny Pesky and Vern Stephens, rated among the best men in baseball. All this—plus Joe McCarthy.

Yet for the first six weeks of the race this club couldn't keep pace with the Browns, tabbed as the all-time jokes. It might be mentioned here that the home support given the Browns has proved again this franchise must leave St. Louis and let the Cardinals have an exclusive roost.

But this isn't explaining the Red Sox. One answer is shoddy pitching, but this can't be the only answer. They did far better last summer with about the same pitching.

The Red Sox dropped from second place in team batting to fifth despite Ted Williams' consistent hitting. Their first pitcher was in the 23rd spot in the league ranking, and they have only one regular who was above .500. But still they had the same staff as they had last year, plus Kramer and Kinder.

McCarthy Broods

Joe McCarthy has nearly always been a winning manager. There is no other manager who broods as much over defeat. So anyone can see the miserable spring and early summer the Buffalo leader has known to date.

Have his Red Sox dumped themselves out of the pennant race? That isn't the problem now. The problem is—can they finish in the first division?

Certainly none of this Red Sox misery can be laid to Williams. At last reports, Williams was leading the American league in individual batting and in runs-batted-in. He was second in home runs. He was well above his record of a year ago and hot on the trail of Ken Keltner of the Cleveland Indians.

It couldn't be Williams. But Doerr, Stephens and DiMaggio were not too hot. They are better than .250 hitters. Johnny Pesky is also more than 60 points below his normal average.

The Red Sox have nothing like the team spirit carried by the Athletics, the Indians or the Browns. They lack the urge and the lift—the desire to win. They have looked dazed and bewildered in many games, as if they still don't believe they have spent over six weeks headed for the cellar.

Electric Fence May Kill; Safety Precautions Listed

Electric fences take their toll of human lives every year. Most victims are children. Also, many animals are killed. Listed below are some of the safety rules recommended by the National Safety Council.

Do not use home-made electric fence controllers; they are not safe.

No fence should be energized from any electric source except through an approved controller, one that meets the safety standards of a recognized agency. It is important that the controller is properly installed with good ground and lightning protection.

Do not tamper with the controller. If it needs servicing return it to the manufacturer or have repairs made by a factory-authorized representative.

Teach children not to tamper or play with an electric fence.

Avoid locating an electric fence where the charged wire and a good ground such as a pipe line, pump, stock tank, pond, irrigation ditch, or other normally wet ground can be contacted at the same time.

Identify electric fences, especially those near buildings, property lines, or roads with prominent signs.

Provide insulated gate grips for opening and closing gates.

POT-SHOTS FROM McCAULLEY

GEORGE DARDEN

(Too late for last week)
Mrs. J. A. Jackson of Hamlin, and formerly of this city, mails us her check for another year's subscription to The Herald. Thanks.
Mrs. Sim A. Reeves and daughter Mary from Fort Stockton are visiting her twin sister, Mrs. Geo. Darden and family in McCaulley.
A large crowd attended the show Sainly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners presented by the McCaulley Cemetery committee. The cast which included a group of Sweetwater business men and women, along with that great showman, Harley Sadler, was appreciated by the large crowd who attended. Total admission was $130.18 which was deposited in the cemetery account at the P&M Bank.
Howard Miers of Lamesa visited last weekend with his father and other relatives in this community.
Harley Sadler and the group from Sweetwater who played in the show at the local Gym last Friday night were guests in the George Darden home after the entertainment for a fried chicken dinner. Co-hostesses were Mrs. B. F. Kemp, Mrs. Roy Hennington and Mrs. Frank Kemp. Guests were greeted at the door by W. H. Pickron Jr., of Shreveport, La., and her sister, Margaret Darden, and Mrs. Sim Reeves of Fort Stockton, twin sister of the hostess. Fifty guests, including the Sweetwater group, enjoyed "gobs" of fried chicken, salads, hot rolls, punch, cake, coffee and home-made ice cream.
Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Herbst and children visited last Sunday with relatives in Breckenridge.
Cecil C. Collings from Howard county, now district judge of the district which includes Howard county, has announced for Associate Justice Court of Civil Appeals.
Several Fisher county candidates attended the show last Friday night at the Ed Mason Gym. Attending were Lamont Haley, for representative; R. L. Wilkins, present sheriff and up for re-election; May Bell White, for county clerk; Neeley Morton, for district clerk; O. B. Williams, for sheriff; A. E. Crowley, for county judge; Ellen Kelley Key, for district clerk and M. O. Campbell, candidate for county clerk.
Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Darden, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Darden and daughter from Girard visited last Sunday at the George Darden home.
D. M. (Monroe) Maberry was stricken ill suddenly Monday morning while plowing and was rushed to the Hamlin Memorial hospital where he is undergoing treatment.
A bridal shower sponsored by the Baptist ladies and given in the home of Mrs. George Darden honoring Mrs. Mike Wishert last Monday. Mrs. Wishert was Martha Hicks before her marriage last month. Forty three ladies attended.

Joe Miers and daughter Jammie and Charles Eivens visited relatives in this community last Monday.
Miss Velma Lou Boyd, teacher in the Coleman schools, is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Boyd.
Miss Mary Ann McCollum is home for a few days before taking up her studies at Texas University.
Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rector will leave July 1st for Imperial, Texas for a visit with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leldon Clifton.
If you have any news, folks, just drop us a line as the old boy isn't getting around too fast since becoming a farmer. If your name doesn't appear in the Pot-shots its your own fault. Sorry we can't read your mind. Sure would like to have the names of your visitors as well as your parties. Yours,
GEORGE.

Ben F. Bailey Is Given Recommendation by State Prison Man

The following is a letter written to Ben F. Bailey, candidate for Jones County Sheriff.
"May 5, 1948.
"Ben F. Bailey,
"Anson, Texas.
"Dear Ben:—I understand you are running for Sheriff of Jones County. I have often remarked what a good jailer you were. If you are half as good sheriff, when elected, the people of Jones County will have a sheriff they will be proud of. I do not know who is in the race for sheriff, but I do know you will make a good one.
"When I stayed at your jail with prisoners, I went to the hotel and went to sleep because I knew they would be there the next morning. You were always good to the boys and always fed them good.
"I do not want to give anyone a rap, but I do hope you are elected sheriff.
"Your friend,
"BUD RUSSELL."
The above is a very high recommendation, coming from "Uncle Bud Russell, retired transfer agent for the Texas Prison System.
Ben F. Bailey was jailer under Jim Lee Gordon, ex-sheriff of Jones County. Bailey served for 33 months as jailer and had a perfect record insofar as there were no attempted jail breaks. (adv)

Hamlin Needs Better Tourist Facilities, Local Survey Shows

Hamlin, located at the crossroads of Highway 83 and 92, should be a convenient stop for tourists, but indications are it will be just another dot on the map.

Principal reason is the lack of adequate tourist facilities in the city. There is an urgent need here for camps, courts, homes and hotel accommodations so the motorist may be able to spend the night without having to drive another 35 to 40 miles.

Highway officials predict this year's tourist trade will exceed that of 1947 and will probably exceed that of pre-war times. Hamlin's better gas stations which offer tourist accommodations such as clean rest rooms and drinking fountains will handle more business than the smaller competitors.

Hamlin's famous friendliness will go a long way toward causing tourists to remember "the West's best" of the smaller cities and some of them no doubt will be searching for a new home while on vacation.

True tourist trade is not measured by the transients who happen through but by the travelers who stop on return trips. The average motorist is constantly searching for friendly service, good beds, clean food at dollar and cents value.

On an average West Texas tourist courts have low rates in comparison to costs east and west and in other states. Our gasoline is also cheaper than in the East where prices at some points range up to six cents more per gallon.

Major oil companies have estimated that there will be four per cent more demand for gasoline this summer than there will be supply. The shortage will be chiefly in the Middle West states. Hamlin service station men believe the demands will easily be met here.

Where are the tourists coming from? A local survey shows license plates on cars from California, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and others—mostly from the northern portion of the country. Southern tourists usually are late in "hitting the road" for the summer vacation.

By mid-summer peak of the tourist trade should be reached and Hamlin is missing a mighty big business when inadequate tourist facilities cause those traveling dollars and dimes to glide on down our highways to other towns and cities not one-half as friendly as ours.

Henry Evans, Former Jones Co. Citizen, Is Buried Friday

Henry Evans, former Jones County citizen, passed away at 4:45 o'clock p. m., June 23 at Austin local. He was interred in the Memorial Cemetery, Austin last Friday.

Blessed Events

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harbert of Abilene a daughter, named Johnnie Anne, Thursday, June 24 at 6:40 a. m. at the Hamlin Memorial Hospital.

U. S. Flag Will Be Displayed Monday By Hamlin Firms

This year, Independence Day, July 4th, falls on Sunday and Hamlin merchants will display United States flag Monday, when most of the business houses will be closed, according to the local Chamber of Commerce.

There are eight special days upon which the flag of the United States should be displayed: Lincoln's Birthday, February 12; Washington's Birthday, February 22; Mother's Day, second Sunday in May; Memorial Day, May 30th; Flag Day, June 14; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, first Monday in September and Armistice Day, November 11th.

The flag is not mere material, but a living symbol, without front or back, but all flag through and through—and its own right and left. If on a staff, then the peak of the staff becomes the head and honor position, next to which the union is placed.

When displayed in a window the flag should be placed the same way; that is, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street.

It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaffs in the open.

Mrs. R. L. Moore, Local Resident, Is Buried in Abilene

Mrs. R. L. Moore, 76, resident of West Texas for many years, died at her Hamlin home of a heart ailment Saturday morning. She had only been ill but a few days.

Funeral was under direction of Elliott Funeral home of Abilene. The body was at the family residence here until about noon Sunday and then was taken by an Elliott coach to Abilene for funeral at the First Methodist Church. Dr. Will C. House, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hamlin, officiated and burial was in Cedar Hill Cemetery beside the grave of her husband who died here in 1938.

Mrs. Moore was born in Franklin county, Illinois, Feb. 17, 1872, and came to Texas in 1894. She was married to Mr. Moore in Rising Star in 1899 and the couple moved to Abilene from Merkel in 1919. Her husband was a contractor. After his death she moved to Hamlin where she since had made her home with a daughter, Georgia Moore, who teaches in the Hamlin schools.

Surviving are the daughter; five sons, J. M. and Ira of Sweetwater, Roy and R. N. of Fort Worth and Otis Moore of Corpus Christi and one sister, Mrs. Martha Musick of Hamlin.

Pallbearers were G. R. Bennett, Joe Simpson, M. T. Hudson, Frank Waggoner, Ed Bailey and Henry Jackson, all of Hamlin.

Texas Department Store Sales Has Slight April Drop

Sales of Texas department and apparel store sold two per cent from April to May according to a report to The Herald early this week from the Bureau of Census.

Dollar sales were fractionally below May 1947. Compared to the first five months in 1947, department and apparel store sales for a like period in 1948 expanded six per cent.

From May 1947 to May 1948, sales of department and apparel stores varied from a 25 per cent rise in Taylor to a nine per cent dip in Denison.

In May 61 per cent of net sales were made on credit compared to 63 per cent in April and 57 per cent in May 1947. The collection ratio was 54 in May, 52 in April and 58 in May 1947.

Hamlin Lions Club Install Officers

STANLEY CARMICHAEL

Stanley Carmichael, local automobile dealer, was installed Tuesday as president of the Hamlin Lions Club by Marvin C. Culbertson of Vernon, governor of Lions District 2-E.

The installation featured the weekly club luncheon at the high school cafeteria.

Lions Governor Culbertson presented a scroll to retiring President I. R. Huchingson, who in turn presented the President's pin to Carmichael. The new executive then presented Huchingson with the past president's pin and certificate.

Other officers installed included: First vice president A. G. Irwin; 2nd vice president Jim Howard King; 3rd vice president Clyde Angel; Secretary C. C. Bailey; Treasurer Onis Crawford; Tail Twister, Herman Treadwell; Lion Tamer, Arlie Cassie; Song Leader, Herman McBride; one year directors, Claude Lancaster and Edgar Duncan; two year directors, Travis Hash and A. Spencer.

Visitors present were: "Cub" Culbertson, son of the district governor; Marvin York of Dallas and a Mr. Simon, traveling man.

Wheat Grindings Show Decline

Wheat grinding slid two per cent from March to April, according to a report to The Herald early this week from the Bureau of Census reports to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Compared to April 1947, wheat grindings dropped eight per cent to 3,523,000 bushels in April 1948.

BATTLE OF BRAINS... In a grinding three-hour competitive examination at the A. and M. College of Texas, 215 honor graduates of Texas high schools fought it out for fifty thousand dollars worth of college scholarships. The fifty winners, who will receive four-year Opportunity Awards at Texas A. and M. College, were announced today. Selected on the basis of need, scholarship, leadership and character, winners will receive $250 to $300 per year, plus an opportunity to earn other college expenses, for their full four years.

Plenty of Truth In This Story---

There are as many ways of shaking hands as there are hands to be shaken. What kind of a grip is yours?

One kind of handshake is the "dead fish." You thrust out your hand expecting to get a warm, friendly grip, and what you get is a cold piece of meat laid in your hand; dead lifeless, expressionless, just lying there. You give it a squeeze and drop it, much as if you had unwittingly picked up something unclean.

Then there is the pump-handle shake. This fellow clutches your hand like a man who has fallen into the river and is being helped out. He hangs on to it and pumps it up and down for dear life, keeping up the exercise until you finally pull away in desperation.

Another kind of handshake is the one-crufter. When you extend your hand he doesn't give you a chance to get hold of him but grips your fingers like a vise, and squeezes them until, when you get loose you have to pull each one from the other separately, hoping, in spite of the pain, that none of the points will actually drop to the floor. He is delighted if he can make you squirm, and if you exclaim with the pain he chuckles gleefully.

Finally there is the man who clasps your hand warmly, heartily, gives it a sympathetic pressure, and releases you neither embarrassed by sloppiness nor agonized by his display of strength. That is the man whose greeting is always a pleasure. That is the man we all like to meet.—Jungle Tales, Piqua, Ohio.

Criswell Funeral Is Held Friday, June 12

J. S. Criswell, a resident of Hamlin for about 34 years, passed away Friday, June 11 at 6 p. m. and funeral was held June 12 with burial in East Cemetery. Barrow Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Minister J. C. Scott of the local Church of Christ, officiated. Mr. Criswell engaged in farming up until a few years ago. In his earlier life he had taught school for a six year term.

Eight children, four daughters and four sons were born to Mr. Criswell and the first Mrs. Criswell, who passed away a number of years ago.

Criswell children are: daughters Mrs. Mary Lomas, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Ara Norred, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Francis Moore, Casper, Wyoming and Mrs. Lucerne Chapman, Dallas. Sons are O. R. and Lewis of Hamlin; Robert of Throckmorton and Pete Criswell of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Criswell's sons, N. C. and H. E. Brackeen of Fort Worth attended the funeral, together with other out-of-town relatives.

Cotton Flea Hopper History Is Recalled By Scientific Study In State

No Under-Age Child Accepted Next School Year

Hamlin School Board in a recent meeting passed a resolution that no under-age children could be received during the 1948-1949 school term.

Their decision is based on a compliance of the law governing the acceptance of under-age children. School law states that under-age children may be admitted on a tuition basis only if the admission of such children does not produce or add to the crowded conditions of children of qualified age.

Since 110 six-year-olds were enumerated, it is very apparent that a crowded condition will exist, with three sections of the first grade, without the admission of "unders", according to the local board.

The State considers any number over 30 per class is representative of a crowded condition, it was pointed out.

It is explained that an under-age child is one born after September 1, 1942. Thus a child born on September 2, 1942, or following cannot be received.

Slaton Tigers, Hamlin Team Play Monday

Local baseball fans will have an opportunity Monday, July 5th, at 8:30 p. m. to witness "the real McCoy" when the Slaton Tigers meet Hamlin at the City Park.

"Old Folks" Tuffie McCoy is bringing his Slaton Tigers to town to battle "Runt" McCoy and his star Hamlin players.

Slaton is tied for first place in the Oil Belt League and the team's manager is said to have boasted he is coming to Hamlin for the sole purpose of "pinning down the ears" of the Hamlinites. To which pitcher McCoy retorts: "Slaton will be on the scoreboard alright, but it will be a bunch of goose eggs."

24 Year Service Button Awarded To Hamlin Man

Twenty-year service buttons were awarded to David C. Rogers of Hamlin, Aubrey L. Foster of Stamford and Walter R. Weaver of Spur at the quarterly safety meeting of the West Texas Utilities Company recently held in Stamford.

Previous the company had presented twenty-five year service buttons to Tom Smith of Stamford and Warren D. McAfee of Aspermont.

M. P. May, Pioneer, Passes Away Friday After Heart Attack

Marcus Parker May, 77, retired Hamlin merchant and father of Tate May, local banker, died at 4:15 p. m. Friday after suffering a heart attack at his home. He had been ill for two months.

Funeral was held at 4:00 p. m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church here. Rev. A. R. Posey, pastor, was in charge of the service, assisted by Rev. J. Henry Littleton, Lueders. Barrow Funeral Home directed burial in the Hamlin Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Morton of Hamlin and Mr. and Mrs. Harris of Rotan sang. Mrs. W. C. Russell played the organ.

The body was in state at the First Baptist Church from 3:00 p. m. until 4:00 p. m.

Rev. Ole Brown of Rotan assisted in the service. Dr. W. C. House of the First Methodist Church offered the prayer.

Pallbearers were deacons of the First Baptist Church.

Many friends attended the funeral from Abilene, Colorado City, Anson, Stamford and Rotan.

May was born in Sumpter County, Alabama May 3, 1871, where he spent his boyhood days. He attended college in Louisville, Kentucky. On April 26, 1893, he was married to Emma Tate of Cuba, Alabama. They continued to reside in Alabama until 1908, at which time they moved to McCaulley. Here for a time he was associated with his brother-in-law, J. A. Martin, in the mercantile business. Subsequently he engaged in farming at McCaulley and in Dawson County.

Then in 1920 he moved to Hamlin where in later years he was in the furniture business. Mr. and Mrs. May celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary April 26, 1943.

Survivors are the widow, seven children and eight grandchildren. The children are Tate and John May of Hamlin; R. A. of Colorado City; James Truett of Los Angeles, California; M. P. Jr. of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. C. C. Rister of Norman, Oklahoma and Mrs. J. Frank Johnson of Rotan.

Mrs. W. J. Johnson Heart Attack Victim Is Buried Saturday

Mrs. W. J. Johnson, 74, who died unexpectedly of a heart attack in Hamlin Friday morning, was buried in East Cemetery after funeral at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Church of Christ.

Mrs. Johnson was found dead by her daughter, Viola Johnson when Miss Johnson went home for lunch Friday. The two made their home together here.

Bruce Proctor, Church of Christ minister from Abilene, officiated at the rites and Barrow Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Johnson had lived in Hamlin 27 years. Her husband died 12 years ago.

Survivors include two daughters, Miss Viola Johnson and Mrs. Bessie Jones of Lubbock; one brother, Levi Harkey of San Saba, and three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Thornton, Mrs. Zedie Funderburk and Mrs. Joe C. Taylor, all of San Saba.

Other survivors are three grandchildren: Leland E. Jones, Lake-side, Arizona; Mrs. O. E. McMakin, Lubbock and Mrs. Quannah Maddox, Lubbock, also eight great-grandchildren.

All were present for the funeral except Leland E. Jones and family who arrived late.

Rev. Travis, Abilene To Preach Sunday

Announcement is made that the Rev. Travis of Abilene will preach at the Fairview Baptist Church, both morning and evening, Sunday, July 4th.

All members are urged to be present and the public is extended a special invitation to attend, according to J. L. Wilson.

(NOTE—The following article is the first of a series on cotton insect control, prepared by Bill Terry, manager of the Mid-West Cooperative Oil Mill. The Herald is publishing these stories as a public feature to area farmers for cotton betterment in the area.)

Flea hopper infests cotton throughout the entire Cotton Belt. The greatest damage is caused in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, but some years losses are also serious in other states.

The winter is passed as eggs in the stems of Cotton (goatweed) and other weeds and to some extent in cotton. The eggs hatch early in the spring and the population now builds up rapidly on certain tender weeds, such as horse mint, Cotton and evening primrose.

There is some movement to cotton weed hosts becomes tough. The ton and this migration increases as rainfall is favorable to the breeding on cotton, which continues as long as plants are succulent. After the active squaring season is past, the flea hopper returns to weeds to feed and to lay their overwintering eggs.

Both the winged adult and the hoppers are very active and are wingless nymphs or young flea—difficult to see until one becomes accustomed to looking for them. Both stages feed on juices of the tender parts of the cotton plants, especially the terminal buds and small squares.

The leaves become deformed and somewhat ragged in appearance, but the greatest damage is caused to the small squares, which are often killed when no larger than a pinhead. The injured squares turn to a brown or black and fall from the plants while so small that they are frequently overlooked and the failure of the plants to bloom is somewhat unfavorable conditions. The infestation attributed to weather or other factors plants grow taller and more whiplike, with fewer large branches than normal plants, and usually produce only a few bolls near the tops. A generation of flea hoppers requires from two to three weeks and this pest often becomes sufficiently numerous on cotton to cause almost complete loss of the cotton crop.

Flea hopper Control. If the cotton is not squaring properly or if young cotton fails to set small squares, the tips of the main stem (terminal buds) of the plants should be examined for flea hoppers. Dusting should be started when 15 to 25 fleahoppers (depending on the size of the plant) are found per 100 terminal buds.

Dust with 12 to 15 pounds per acre of five per cent DDT sulphur mixture. Sulphur alone will control young fleahoppers, dusted from five to seven day intervals.

If infestations are heavy or very large numbers of fleahoppers are continually moving into cotton four to six dustings with sulphur may be needed.

Experimental work to date indicates that two applications of DDT dust will control fleahoppers throughout the season.

Hamlin Receives 3.08 Inches Rain Past 10 Days

Rain—that glorious four-letter word in dry territory—fell again last week-end, dumping approximately 1.31 additional inches of moisture to bring the total for the past 10 days to 3.08 inches.

The dry spell came to an end Wednesday of last week when 1.77 inches of rain fell in the afternoon and evening.

Hamlin's upper lake west of the city ran over the spillway and the additional week-end rains sent 27 inches of water into the big south lake early Sunday.

The city has now received 9.33 inches of rainfall for the year, which is slightly above one-half of normal.

The fields east and south of town were too wet for plowing up to Wednesday noon.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Uneasy Truce Prevails in Palestine; No Talks With Russia, Truman Says; Draft Machinery Set to Begin Work

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

HOLD FIRE

Still No Peace

For a little while the dove of peace drifted over Palestine on frayed and weary wing as Arab and Israeli armies were observing, more or less loosely, a four-week truce in the war for possession of the Holy Land.

At best the United Nations-supervised truce agreement was a fretful and uneasy affair. Before the four-week mediation period was two days old both Arabs and Jews had begun charging each other with violations of the pact.

Count Folke Bernadotte, U.N. truce negotiator, was investigating the accusations, but it looked very much as though another security council cease-fire order might go unloved, unhonored and unobeyed.

Actually, it is difficult to see how any synthetically imposed truce could succeed in Palestine. There are no basic grounds upon which a genuine interruption of hostilities could rest. Both sides profess military proficiency and the ability to keep on fighting and winning.

And, more important, each side is fanatically opposed to modifying its demands: Israel is determined to retain its sovereignty and to have unlimited immigration of Jews into the state. The Arabs are just as determined to erase the state of Israel from the map.

Thus, there is little confidence in the security council's truce plan and its power to effect peace. And that pessimism was heightened by the knowledge that no U.N. cease-fire edict has worked yet.

Aside from the seriousness of the struggle for Palestine itself, deepest significance of the affair lay in the fact that it is raising once more the old question of whether any world peace organization of nations ever can succeed in the task it sets for itself—the maintenance of peace and order on earth.

Pressure of world opinion—which is all the U.N. security council can bring to bear, lacking both military teeth and the power to bring economic sanctions against offending nations—apparently is not going to be enough, at least in the case of Palestine.

One inference which may be drawn is that the U.N. will need more power of one kind or another before it can prevail against the fetish of blind, militant nationalism that has hurled the world into two major wars already in this century.

PRESIDENT: About Russia

Forsaking for the moment the political whiplash he has been using on congress during his western tour, President Truman issued a major enunciation of U.S. foreign policy, bounded on all sides by an indictment of Russian tactics, in a speech at Berkeley, Calif.

His address was the clearest cut answer thus far made to the recent spurious but widely publicized Soviet offer to talk over Russian-American differences and the issues of the cold war.

Although the Soviet overture patently had been made as a last-ditch effort to derail the European recovery program and also slow down

Bingo!

INFLATION AND TAXES

Vacations Cost More This Year

If you haven't been on a vacation since 1940 and you are planning one for this summer, you're probably in for a shock—the kind that makes the bankroll tingle.

For depending on the kind of vacation you take and the brand of recreation you prefer, vacation costs in 1948 have jumped from 20 to 100 per cent over comparable prices in 1940, according to the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

For instance, a 12-day cruise from New York City to Nassau, Havana and Miami cost as little as $120 in 1940. Today the same cruise is listed at a $218.50 minimum, an increase of 82 per cent.

City Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Girard Van Barkaloo Hale of Santa Barbara, Calif., "adopted" the war-ravaged French village of Maille in 1946, subsequently sent 12,000 gifts of food and clothing to its inhabitants. Now they've gone to Maille to receive the personal thanks of the 366 persons whom they shepherded through the hard years.

AID CASH: And Politics

Although its funds were still in a state of confusion as a result of a combination of congressional economy and GOP political machinations, the economic cooperation administration nevertheless managed to toss off the biggest bundle of foreign relief cash so far.

Paul G. Hoffman, ECA administrator, approved the assignment of $95,610,605 for 10 European countries, including Trieste, and China. The action brought total Marshall plan authorizations from available funds to $393,737,029.

Countries sharing in the new approvals were Great Britain, The Netherlands, France, French zone of Germany, Austria, Denmark, Italy, Norway, Greece, Trieste and China.

The assignment of almost 96 million dollars in foreign aid funds served to point up the squabble set off in congress when the house voted to spread the recovery funds over 13 months instead of 12, thereby producing the effect of slashing aid appropriations by one to two billion dollars.

While the senate restored the appropriations cut, many U.S. leaders were gravely worried about another possible significance of the house action.

Theory was that the house, by cutting ECA appropriations, demonstrated that Republican organization bosses are determined to fight, and reverse if possible, the line of foreign policy represented by the Marshall plan.

It was thought to be part of a larger plan to gain control of the Republican party and to defeat the new postwar GOP leaders—Vandenberg, Dewey, Stassen and Warren—by chipping away the cornerstone of the foreign policy they all profess.

The situation had the outward appearance of chaos, but behind it lurked the business of playing election year politics while permitting the rest of the world to go hang.

MIDDLE INCOME: That's $2,920

Any American family which could add up the wages it received in 1947 and get $2,920 for the total had earned a "middle income," according to the way the federal reserve board has it figured out.

That "middle income," up $320 from 1946, incidentally, means that half of all the 42 million U.S. families made more than that while the other half made less.

About 69 per cent or 29,980,000 families had a joint income of $2,000 or more last year. By contrast, in the mid-1930s fewer than 6.6 million families had incomes at that level. But a dollar bought considerably more then than it does now.

Twenty-one out of each 100 families rated incomes above $5,000 in 1947, while eight of that group got more than $7,500 a year.

However, not all were in the top money. Of each 100 families 13 had incomes under $1,000 and another 18 earned between $1,000 and $2,000. But even many of the well-to-do were unhappy about the whole thing. They felt that they were becoming worse off financially because of the high cost of living.

According to the federal reserve board's sample survey, those persons who own their own business or manage somebody else's earn the most money. Middle income for families headed by "a managerial or self-employed person" was $4,500.

Next on the list were professional workers with a middle income of $4,000. Skilled and semi-skilled workers followed with $3,000, clerks and salespeople with $2,900 and unskilled workers with $1,800.

Weigh Your Words?

Scientists with a will to weigh have developed at the Rahway, N.J., Merck institute for therapeutic research a scales so incredibly delicate that it records the weight of a puff of air from a single wave of the hand.

The scales are being used to weigh potent new drugs and also to weigh the energy spent by animals placed under the influence of medicinal drugs.

GOP Wanted Mac's Return; Oh, Yes, They Surely Did

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator

PHILADELPHIA.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, in regretfully regretting his inability to accept the senate appropriation committee's invitation to come to Washington to testify on the Far Eastern situation, said he'd rather wait until after the national political conventions; that he didn't want to get any political implications mixed up with his visit.

Regular Republicans solemnly accepted the general's response just as if they hadn't moved heaven and earth to keep him from accepting. Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire remarked gravely at the time that if anything should happen while MacArthur was away (from Japan), he (Senator Bridges) certainly wouldn't want the responsibility of having the general back here (Oh, dear no!).

The enthusiastic political amateurs who urged that the general be invited finally were quieted down to the dismay of the Democrats who wept loudly into their beards when they heard the general would not come. But there was enough danger of ructions, rows and revolt among contenders for the Republican nomination without taking chances on a military applicant.

MacArthur in the United States, marching under arches of triumph, enjoying the laying on of leis, not to mention being cheered and perhaps even voted for by a few starchy-eyed elephant cubs, was no pleasant thought for the Republican regulars to contemplate. On the other hand this contingency would fill the simple Democratic soul with joy beyond compare.

We observed the same sweet innocence as to the objectives of President Truman's recent little informal tour of the country. As Chairman Reece of the Republican national committee remarked before he left: "It (the trip) will be as non-political as the Pendergast machine," which indicates the nature of the inter-party amenities which may be expected from now on.

It is indeed a tragedy that this quadrennial sporting event—a presidential election—in which we go through all the motions of tearing our adversaries to pieces, accusing them of all the crimes in the calendar just as if we meant it, should have to take place while wars cold, if not hot, seem to be breaking out all over.

It is probably a fine thing however, that, as civilization progressed, we changed our methods of choosing a leader.

In the old days it was a very simple process. When the eldest son had reached that point of strength and wisdom where he felt it was relatively safe to argue with papa the two of them took up their clubs, the ladies and younger children made a circle, and father and son held an election. It didn't take long, and the best man won.

The ladies buried the defeated candidate, and tribal life continued tranquilly until the first Tuesday after the first Monday of the month and year that junior thought auspicious.

Nowadays, we stretch the affair out for a whole year or more. The Russians have simplified elections by removing one candidate beforehand which eliminates much of the element of chance. With us the contest is highly absorbing and, just as the sabre tooth tiger often sneaked in and carried off some of the tribe while the others were watching the "election," so all sorts of things happen to us when we have our minds on the political race.

This time there is some danger that a large fat bear may grab off a large chunk of oil-land while we are watching the events leading to the November finals.

Union of Nations To Secure Peace

Recently Gen. Omar Bradley, chief of staff of the army, made a masterful argument for an unselfish and positive effort for peace, along with an idealistic appeal that we steer "by the stars, not by the light of each passing ship."

"In our hatred and renunciation of war," said General Bradley, "we must not forget that the roots of conflict flourish in the faults and failures of those who seek peace, just as surely as they take shape from the diseases and designs of aggressors. While the American people have within themselves the moral strength, the power and wisdom to marshal their forces against aggression in whatever form it affects—we cannot feign innocence through indifference or neglect of struggles that bring on wars. We have suffered enough in two world wars to know that non-involvement in peace means certain involvement in war."

"Either we shall employ our strength, power and conscience, boldly and righteously in defense of human dignity and freedom, or

we shall waste those reserves for peace, and default to the forces that breed new wars."

Wars can be prevented, said Bradley, just as surely as they can be provoked, and therefore "we who fail to prevent them must share in guilt for the deed."

That thesis of General Bradley's that it requires positive peacetime action to stop wars is concurred in by Clarence Streit, president of Federal Union, Incorporated, an organization working for the federalization of the free countries of the world.

Streit's argument, made before the house foreign affairs committee, did not get the publicity it should. Streit said that only through freedom can peace come.

Specifically, if the free nations unite in a federation (by free nations, he refers to nations which are not dominated by any foreign power and where at least the theory of democracy, as we understand it, obtains) these free nations can assure peace. He suggests as charter members of the federation the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Switzerland, Belgium, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Denmark, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Eire, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Streit says further that power can be divided into four suits, like a deck of cards, and that these 15 democracies, if they federate, can hold every ace. He lists them:

"The Ace of Clubs: Armed power. Not only would their soldiers, if united, number as many as Russia's and be much more mobile and better-equipped, but this union would begin by having the bulk of the world's airpower; 80 per cent of its naval tonnage; advance bases everywhere on earth; 100 per cent atomic power.

"The Ace of Spades: Productive power. Despite the tangle on tariffs and currencies, these democracies outproduce the rest of the world. Think what they could do with a free flow of trade similar to that among our own states!

"The Ace of Diamonds: Raw material power. No need of separate stockpiling of essentials. These nations would produce 50 to 90 per cent of most of them.

"The Ace of Hearts: Moral power. This union would unite all lands towards which the rest of humanity has looked for refuge from oppression and leadership toward liberty. Nothing can appeal to men so deeply as an individual freedom—and to back it up with every ace is to add irresistible authority to its appeal."

I think that is a very concise and logical statement. Western Europe already is moving toward a union, slowly, out of necessity, because there is NO OTHER WAY!

The peoples of the world do not want war; the free nations, having achieved freedom, have no cause for war except to defend that freedom. The federation could maintain freedom without war, for no one would dare challenge it.

Convention Coverage Took Much Planning

Convention hall in Philadelphia, as the Republican convention got under way, was no sight for the sore eyes of Harold McGrath and Bob Menaugh, superintendents respectively of the senate and house radio galleries and Bill Henry, president of the Radio Correspondents association.

Since October, 1947, they've practically been commuting from Washington to Philadelphia to inspect the hall, plan where broadcasts should originate, decide where network and independent radio news broadcasters of varying degrees of importance should be seated, confer with Republican and Democratic politicians, supervise hotel accommodations and, most vital of all, hurt nobody's feelings in the process.

Four hundred and 36 radio news-men were assigned to cover the Republican convention as compared to the 40 radio men accredited eight years ago and 160 in 1944.

Forty-four organizations in addition to the four major networks originated broadcasts from the convention; 31 of these shows came from the hall itself. Others originated in the 14 other facilities scattered around the building, some on the stage of the hall, some in the basement and so on.

Congressional Record

TO anyone but the most naive the pattern cut by the Republican controlled 80th congress during the past two years is a crystal-clear indication of what will happen in the 81st congress starting next January.

Unless there is an upheaval of the seemingly apathetic public opinion not now apparent, the Republican party likely will retain control of both houses of congress, may even enlarge control and, if the GOP captures the presidency as well, the unsavory record of this congress will have been just a starter, an eye-opener of what will happen next year.

While the sins of omission of this congress have been many, in the opinion of this reporter, its sins of commission write a chapter in legislative history almost unparalleled in the annals of this country. It is with this record the Republican party must go to the people in the November campaign.

What are its noteworthy accomplishments in behalf of the people? On the domestic front it passed the Taft-Hartley labor reform law. Whether it is a good law or not is yet to be demonstrated. It passed a curtailed draft bill in the closing minutes almost at the point of a gun. It cut taxes for one year but faces deficit financing and must boost the taxes back up next January.

Despite the statement of some leaders, this reporter predicts that congress will not return for a pre-election session after the national conventions. After adoption of a platform, it will be better politics to go to the voters with promises than with performance, and a convention platform is merely a promise to perform.

It appropriated money for national defense far beyond what the military establishment and the President said were necessary. On the foreign front it adopted the Truman doctrine for aid to Greece, Turkey and other nations and adopted the administration bi-partisan European recovery measure only after house isolationists almost had wrecked the entire program and endangered the nation's world leadership. That is the record.

The sins of commission include a record of irresponsibility and disregard of the consequences of their acts which brand congress as unaccountable or politically inept. Time and time again the whole congress, a majority in both house and senate, by record vote has committed itself on both foreign and domestic issues and then by the stupid or mischievous actions of a few leaders congress has welched on its solemn record vote.

The most flagrant example, of course, was the willful and insane economy of Congressman John Taber of New York, with the approval of Speaker Joe Martin and Majority Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana, in slashing 25 per cent from the authorized appropriation for the European recovery program.

Invasion of Authority

The second set of sins of commission was the persistent attempt by this congress to set itself up as arbiter for the supreme court and also as controlling the executive department of the government. Many times congress has sought to override the decisions of the supreme court and has done so by repealing or amending the laws in question when congressmen didn't like a supreme court ruling. Outstanding examples were in the postal-to-port pay law, Tidelands oil grab, extension of the social security law and lifting of anti-trust laws in favor of the railroads and insurance companies.

Many times, both senate and house leadership has sought to invade the rights and powers of the executive branch of the government.

The sins of omission in this congress make a long list. It failed to pass an adequate housing bill, a long-range farm program, a new wage and hour law, federal aid to education, a national health law, an anti-monopoly law, extend social security, reduce government expenditures or the number of government employees.

By its acts congress has demonstrated that it is determined to kill or curtail the 15-year policy of cheap public power in favor of the private power interests; that it eventually will junk reciprocal trade agreements in favor of a high protective tariff. It will either kill or emasculate farm cooperatives so as to make them inoperative. It will abandon the 40-year irrigation policy in favor of large land owners and against the small 160-acre farmers. It will further curtail reclamation appropriations

Build It From A Pattern

Live Out Of Doors! No Need To Break Your Budget Obtaining Attractive Lawn Furniture

By DONALD R. BRANN

Make your porch, terrace or lawn an outdoor living room—turn your backyard into a picnic ground. You'll be agreeably surprised to see what fun dining out can be. Food takes on an added zest when flavored with the thrill of a picnic.

You can build wonderful pieces of lawn furniture at very low cost. The set illustrated above was built from patterns. These patterns take all the mystery out of woodworking. Each shows the full size, shape and length for cutting each part. Wherever two parts are fastened together, the exact location is indicated on the pattern.

Making a home is traditionally American. The strength of the country rests on the people who have built a home for themselves and their families. Building lawn furniture or any other home equipment is not difficult. You can do it if you try. Each pattern is designed so that no special tools or skill are required. Build this lawn set for immediate use. You'll save money and have fun building it. All materials pattern specifies are stock size and readily obtainable at lumber yards everywhere.

A mantle of gloom hangs over our shipping docks at the moment because of the deepening post-war slump in shipping business. . . . Foreign operators using considerable foresight, got in on the cream of the shipping business to such an extent some American operators have seen volume drop by at least one-third. . . . Only a couple of years back U. S. flag ships carried around 70 per cent of all United States export cargo (excluding petroleum). In the year just behind us this volume dropped to 57 per cent. . . . U. S. labor costs are so much higher than anywhere else on the globe that foreign operators can do the job, show a profit and keep going at levels that would break U. S. shippers. . . . It will be out of line to see the next Congress drum up the idea of increased aid for our merchant marine.

Straws in the early morning breeze indicate the butter interests after all can yet win their fight against legislation removing federal taxes from oleomargarine.

Convention Hall Sidelights . . .

Governor Dwight Green, of Illinois, the convention keynoter who delivered one of the able speeches of the convention, definitely had the lightning rod up on the vice-presidency. However when the Illinois delegation broke from Green, it went, not to Dewey, but to the hopeless candidacy of Senator Taft. Green couldn't deliver.

For the first time network television carried the live scenes of this convention to the eastern seaboard from Richmond north to Boston.

All television networks "pooled" their shots and fed through a central broadcast station so that all networks received the same coverage.

"Canned" television took the story inland. Around Philadelphia every television set was tuned into convention hall and even in the lounges at the meeting outside the convention floor, the television was for many a much more popular and comfortable method of "covering" the proceedings than the actual convention itself.

Insects Hinder Texas Cotton

In a report to The Herald from the A&M College Cotton experts conditions in various sections as of June 22 were as follows.

Extremely hot dry weather is causing cotton to mature in some Southern Counties, especially on the lighter soils and is reducing insect populations in such areas. But, the boll weevil continues to get a relatively high percentage of the early squares in many fields of the south-central, central and north central Texas. The average percentage punctured squares in 541 fields examined this week in 44 counties was 17, as compared to 16 per cent last week and seven per cent for the same date a year ago.

There was a reduction in fleahoppers per 100 terminals as compared to 11 last week and 13 a year ago. Condition in the various sectors were as follows:

Lower Rio Grande Valley—Non-irrigated maturing rapidly. Boll weevil infestation in 117 fields averaged 14 per cent. Flea hopper infestation was reduced from 11 per 100 terminals last week to three this week. Bloom inspections indicate a heavier pink bollworm infestation than last year.

Coastal Bend—In 57 inspected fields showed a total of 85. Fleahoppers averaged 10 per 100 terminals, the same as last week. Control for fleahoppers and boll weevils is needed in some fields, particularly in Jim Wells and Kleberg Counties.

Upper Coastal Area—Boll weevils were still numerous in most undusted fields in several counties and control measures are needed, particularly in Wharton and Jackson Counties. Fleahoppers averaged 14 per 100 terminals this week as compared to 10 last week and 21 a year ago. Much dusting has been done in this area for fleahopper control and the results have been extremely satisfactory. In some fields control measures for fleahoppers would be highly profitable.

South Central—In general the boll weevil population was rather high in this area. Fleahopper infestations were high in some fields. Combination weevil and fleahopper control would be profitable in many fields in this area.

Central—Fleahoppers are taking a heavy toll of the early squares in many fields and boll weevils are getting a high percentage of the squares reaching 1-3 grown or larger. Fields should be checked carefully for insect damage and control measures applied immediately if needed. Fleahopper infestation in 144 fields was 11 per 100 terminals this week, the same as last week.

North Central—In most fields cotton is so small for accurate square infestation records. A limited number of records made indicated high weevil infestation in a few fields with the average running rather low, eight per cent punctured squares.

In the Northeast, East, Cross Timbers and Northwest areas cotton is too small for square infestation records. A few records from these areas indicate low boll weevil populations in most Counties. Fleahopper populations are high in Freestone County averaging 45 per 100 terminals but in other areas the population is comparatively low.

Grasshoppers and trips are still causing damage in many areas.

Sweet and lovely, both the gorgeous gal and the charming cotton frock designed by Link of California. The dainty cotton poplin dress features a deep square neckline outlined by the same material in a large soft bow with tight basque waist and full gathered skirt. According to National Cotton Council fashion experts, the skirt is slashed at the hemline for glimpses of white lace petticoat ruffles, and to really make talk, there's a large bow tying the hemline up in back for a more daring glimpse of the white eyelet embroidery.

There are only two ways — one leads to hell, and the other leads to heaven. (Matt. 13:14)

With this in mind, ask yourself, can I be saved outside the New Testament Church?

1.—NO. Christ purchased the church with His own blood. Acts 20:28.

2.—He is the savior of the BODY. Eph. 5:23, and the BODY is the CHURCH. Eph. 1:22-23. Thus, the savior of the CHURCH.

If the Lord purchased the church, can man say that it is unimportant and be truthful. Whom shall we believe? Man or the BIBLE. Any candid man or thinking man will believe the Bible and be saved by its teaching. (Adv.)

Confident Republicans Choose Dewey-Warren Team for 1948

The Herald is carrying this story of the Republican Convention as a service to its readers. Demos will follow soon.

By WALTER A. SHEAD
WNU Washington Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA—Bowling over all opposition in an unchecked power drive toward the coveted goal of 548 votes, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, swept to victory on the third ballot at the Republican National Convention.

After a night of speculation on vice-presidential candidates which included the names of Charles Halleck, of Indiana; Senator John Bricker, of Ohio; Governor Warren was put forth as the Dewey choice for the post.

Governor Earl Warren, governor of California, was nominated to the vice-presidency by acclamation after Arizona had withdrawn the name of Harold E. Stassen.

Actually the colorful New Yorker's nomination came by unanimous vote after he had demonstrated unprecendented strength on the first ballot over six other contenders for the nomination. Governor Dewey polled 434 votes on the first ballot to 224 for Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, his nearest competitor, with former Governor Harold E. Stassen trailing in third place with 157 votes. Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, polled 62; Senator Raymond Baldwin, of Connecticut, 19; Speaker Joe Martin, of Massachusetts, 16; Carroll Reese, of Tennessee, chairman of the GOP national committee, 15; General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, 11; Governor Dwight Green, of Illinois, 56; Governor Alfred E. Driscoll, of New Jersey, 35; Governor Earl Warren, of California, 59, and Congressman Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, 1.

Governor Dewey won the nomination because he had the best organization, because his opposition underestimated his strength and despite the fact it broke a Republican party precedent of never having nominated a losing candidate.

The two-time nominee, he was the party's standard bearer in 1944, was given a tremendous ovation when he came into the convention accompanied by his personable wife. His nomination came swiftly after Senator John Bricker, of Ohio, had withdrawn Senator Taft's name and Stassen had himself gone to the platform to withdraw in favor of Dewey. They were quickly followed by Governor Warren, of California, and the others.

Governor Dewey told the delegates he accepted the nomination "unfettered by a single obligation or promise to any living person." His acceptance speech, which evidently had been prepared in advance, since it was delivered in mimeograph form to the press before he made it, was on a high plane of a "spiritual upsurge."

"Our problem," he said, "is most of all spiritual. Our problem is not outside ourselves. Our problem is within ourselves. . . we have devised noble plans for a new world. Without a new spirit, our noblest plans will come to naught."

Dewey In Center Of Early Activity

Governor Dewey came into the convention as the leading candidate, with approximately 350 votes pledged to him on the first ballot and possibly some 50 to 75 votes as a reserve upon which he could count after favorite son candidates had been moved out of the picture. The New York governor's managers decided however, after they failed to improve the governor's position in the first two days of the convention, to shoot the works on the first ballot in an effort to start a bandwagon stampede of delegates for the New Yorker. The maneuver, clever psychologically in many instances, became known as the Dewey "blitz."

It had one effect, however, it united the other leading candidates in a move to "stop Dewey." Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, second man, with some 250 or more delegates on the first ballot and former Governor Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, with some 175 delegates, along with the Connecticut state chairman, Governor Kem Sigler, of Michigan, and some other delegate leaders held a meeting at which they canvassed the situation and decided that Mr. Dewey did not have the votes he claimed. Further, the Dewey "blitz" didates started the wild and tumultuous session which lasted long into Wednesday night, there had been little enthusiasm and actually small crowds attending the convention. There was an air of tenseness and responsibility about these delegates which did not lend itself to hilarity or horse-play to any large degree.

These delegates gathered here were all convinced they were naming the next President of the United States . . . that 1948 is a sure winner for the Republican party.

The best demonstration up to the roll call of states came when Herbert Hoover, former president and GOP elder statesman was escorted to the platform by Alf Landon, of Kansas, the 1936 nominee. Mr. Hoover was given a 16-minute demonstration and he made a sturdy, if aged picture there with the klieg lights beaming upon him.

Foreign Aid Plank Features Platform

Highlight of the 1948 GOP platform and chief bone of contention in sessions of the resolutions committee was the foreign relations plank. The all-out approval, however of the European recovery program and support of the United Nations was a clear-cut victory for Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts, the chairman of the resolutions committee. While ERP was not mentioned by name the platform plank was clear and strong.

The platform was all-inclusive covering the field of domestic issues including conservation of natural resources, farm price supports, economy in government, against high prices, abolition of useless government bureaus, maintenance of an adequate armed service for sea, land and air; reduction of the federal debt and taxes, elimination of monopoly to aid small business, a sound soil conservation program, development of sound farm credit, encouragement of family-sized farms; progressive development of the nation's water resources for navigation, flood control and power; a comprehensive reclamation program; recognition of the nation's obligation to all veterans and a realistic and adequate adjustment of benefits; housing by private enterprise at lower costs, but federal aid for local slum clearance and low-rental housing; extension of the federal old age and survivor's insurance program and increase of the benefits to a more realistic level; strengthening of state-aid programs to provide more adequate hospital facilities, to improve methods of treatment of the mentally ill, to advance maternal and child health and generally to foster a healthy America.

The civil rights platform plank included an anti-lynching law, abolition of the poll tax as a requisite for voting, opposition to racial segregation in the armed services and "equality of all individuals in their right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness . . . right to equal opportunity to work and to advance in life not limited because of race, religion, color, or country of origin."

The platform also pledged new legislation against communism, revision of the procedure for election of president and vice-president to "more exactly reflect the popular vote." This plank referred to the Lodge constitutional revision resolution to change the vote procedure of the electoral college. Equal rights for women, equal pay for equal work regardless of sex, educational opportunities for all and giving title of tideland oil lands to the states completed the document.

Parity for Farm Products to Drop After 1949 Period

Farmers of Jones County areas, as well as others all over the country, were concerned this week with the definite government sponsored trend for lower prices for farm commodities.

The new farm price support legislation which Congress sent to the white house in Washington early Sunday would revise the formula for parity, the figure on which price props are based.

A compromise worked out at the eleventh hour of the session would continue most of the present high war-time support levels through 1949 and then put into effect a permanent structure of somewhat lower support.

The new parity formula is designed to bring all commodities under the same plan.

Parity is a calculated figure aimed at keeping the prices of farm products in line with those of other segments of the economy. At the ration that exists in some base period generally favorable to agriculture.

The formula originally was based on the 1909-14 period. But it was found that some inequities resulted and different base periods were designated for specific crops so that at present some 25 or 30 periods are in use.

Under the new formula, worked out by Department of Agriculture economists, it is expected that the 1909-14 period will hold good for all crops.

For agricultural prices as a whole, it is not designed to raise or lower

Oleo Tax Repeal Put Off by Legislature

Members of Congress from the northern dairy states last week-end put the oleomargarine issue on the dead hook for the session that adjourned last Saturday.

People of Jones County and other cotton producing areas of the South were concerned with repeal of the taxes on oleo that hampers the marketing of oleo.

Senator Thye, Republican of Minnesota, said in Washington last week that the measure to repeal all federal taxes on oleomargarine "is very definitely laid away—peacefully and comfortably."

Eugene Reagan of Hillsboro who has recently been discharged from the Army in which he was a captain, visited Hortense Phenix this week.

their present relation to other prices but it would revise somewhat the relation among various farm crops.

Mrs. Adie Meadows and Mrs. Abbie Wade of Mt. Pleasant were visiting their aunt, Mrs. Etta Stephenson the past week.

THE FICTION CORNER

THE TRAGIC WEDDING

By RAY FULBRIGHT

LIBBY'S death was a shock, coming on her wedding day as it did. Neighbor-folks would be shaking their heads sadly. People liked Libby. Sort of old-maidish she was, near 40, but there was kindness and generosity in her heart.

Not that her death would be a surprise. She was very frail and a chronic heart sufferer. Doc Huntley had begged her to slip off with him and have a quiet justice-of-the-peace wedding and avoid excitement. But no. She'd wanted to be with her family—what family she had, and such as it was.

With tightening throat, Doc gazed down on the thin dark figure in the blue tulle wedding dress lying on the quilted bedding. She'd fallen on the rag carpet, they had told him when he arrived, and one of the women guests had picked her up and placed her on the bed and had removed her stockings to massage her legs. Doc noticed the heavy finger marks on the thin ankles. Then his gaze swept to the digitalis bottle on the dressing table.

Libby's heart never had been in such a bad condition that a shot of heart stimulant hadn't brought her out of it. But it was obviously a severe attack. Her face was bluish, her dark eyes bulging, as if from an exploding heart. A look of abject horror had torn open her mouth, twisting her pretty face.

"My husband was settin' in the front room waitin' for the preacher and you to come, Doc," Cousin Laura said—Doc always called her Cousin Laura, because she was Libby's cousin, the only relative Libby had.

"The first guests were jest comin' up the road. I was in the kitchen trimmin' up the wedding cake. I thought I heard Libby scream. About an hour ago it was. I came in here as quick as I could wash off my hands, and there she was a-lyin' there on the floor, but blue in the face."

Cousin Laura was a big-boned woman with suspicious, disapproving eyes. Her hair was coal black. Cynics had whispered that Laura had married Grandpappy Bogle, 40 years her senior, for his farm. He was stone deaf and couldn't (it was believed at the time) live more than six months. Grandpappy had a son, Harv Bogle, living with him. That was the family—Grandpappy Bogle, Cousin Laura Bogle, Harv Bogle and Libby.

Doc had always had an uncomfortable feeling that Laura hated him, or at least resented his taking Libby from the family.

Doc could hear Grandpappy in the front room yapping away with the guests. No matter what anyone said to him, he assumed that they were agreeing with him and went on yapping.

"Where's Harv?" Doc said.

"Harv's out to the barn sulking. I reckon—on account of the wedding," Cousin Laura said with evil suggestion. "He ain't been in all day—didn't even come in fer his dinner." Then she became thoughtful, her black eyes slitting. "Now, wait a minute—I believe I seen him out on the back porch about an hour ago. Yeah, I did, come to think of it."

Doc understood about Harv not wanting to attend the wedding. He'd known that Harv Bogle had loved Libby like a man possessed. He'd threatened a half dozen times to kill himself if she didn't marry him. And when that didn't work, he practically threatened to kill her. Only yesterday he'd told Libby that he'd rather see her dead than marrying the doctor.

Doc had brushed Libby's fears aside.

Harv was harmless. Give him a month of fishing and squirrel hunting down in the Obion river bottoms and he'd forget it. Doc had assured her. Harv was the bachelor type. He lived from day to day, felt no responsibility about anything. The only thing he planned ahead was his tobacco patch out behind the barn.

Doc found Harv sitting on the wagon tongue in the barnlot. He was distractedly scraping blue mud from his rough brogans with a shiny woods knife. He was a heavy-set man in tattered overalls, grizzled, his teeth showing the effects of constant tobacco chewing. He didn't talk much and spent most of his time alone in the river bottoms.

His attitude towards the doctor was surly since Doc had started courting Libby. Harv looked up darkly.

"Been out here all afternoon, Harv?"

"Here and the bottom—if it's anything to you." He kept on scraping mud.

"You were seen in the back yard about the time Libby died."

"Died! Is she—" He studied Doc suspiciously. Slowly, conviction crept over his face. "Somebody lied," he said dully, and returned his attention to his shoe.

"Harv, I never talked with Libby about it. But who gets Libby's property? She had a will, didn't she?"

Doc knew that Libby owned 200 acres of valuable bottom timber land where Harv did his hunting and fishing.

"Naw," Harv replied. "She didn't leave no will. You sort of got left out, didn't you, Doc? If'n she'd lived through the day, you'd have got yo'r hands on that land, wouldn't you?"

Doc struggled to keep from getting mad. His gaze shifted to the dry branch at the foot of the red-gummed hill. Snarled, hungry-looking sassafras grew on the bank and along the fence rows, as if it had been forced out of competition for space in the rich bottom lands and relegated to the hills where competition for food was tired and hopeless.

Doc returned to the house, looked around the barren red clay back yard. Then he entered by the back way. The back porch, screened in, was as neat as a perfume counter. Libby's room was just as neat. The rag carpets looked as if they'd just been washed a day or so before.

Doc went to the wall telephone, rang central and asked for the sheriff.

"This is Doc Huntley, Sheriff. I want to report a murder... yeah, out at Grandpappy Bogle's place..." Doc hung up, turned. Cousin Laura stood in the kitchen door, her black eyes staring balefully. Slowly, doubt and indecision tore her mouth open.

"Did you say 'murder'?"

"Yes. Libby was murdered. By the person who would inherit the 200 acres of rich bottom land. Libby's land is certainly more tempting than Grandpappy Bogle's red clay hills—"

"How—how—"

"Libby was picked up by her ankles and held upside down until she died from a heart attack. That's how those bruises came to be on her ankles; they certainly weren't caused by massaging. Her heart

Kathleen Norris Says:

Young America Needs Enlightenment

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features

We are a great people. I think we ought to keep saying it, thinking it and impressing it upon our children.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

ON THIS FOURTH OF JULY, above the fumes of firecrackers and political speeches and baking chocolate cakes and bunting and ice cream, there rises one solid inescapable consideration: We are a great people.

Some Americans think we shouldn't say that aloud. Perhaps it isn't the best taste when we are with less fortunate nationals. But here at home I think we ought to keep saying it, thinking it and impressing it upon our children. Confidence and pride in America may be a valuable asset in the near future. The more we know of our history and its significance, the safer will be the whole world.

A surprising number of Americans are belittling America today. This is a situation that would have been hard for our forefathers to believe. Their loyalty, enthusiasm and faith came down to them straight from our beginnings. They knew our story. They honored the great men who had a share in it. But many of the younger generation seem to have missed this birthright of pride and allegiance.

Thousands of young Americans today will praise almost any other system of national government rather than our own. The less they know of it the surer they are that this foreign country or that is doing infinitely better than we are.

Statistics upon the low rate of pay in other lands, the crowding, restrictions and limitations, apparently have no weight. The argument that we Americans have reached the highest level of social comfort ever attained in this world, that we enjoy more luxuries, conveniences and amusements in one week than certain whole villages know in a year apparently has no weight.

Children Praise Foreigners

Our children continue to praise foreign ideologies, to compare their ways to ours to their disadvantage, to give any casual disaffected lecturer or magazine article their deep belief and admiration. Youngsters who never have seen Europe or the Orient will tell us, who have visited them more than once, of the ideal conditions that exist in the older countries. Instructors, whose entire knowledge of foreign systems of government comes from books written by other theorists, teach our children to feel an affectionate and pitying contempt for America.

America is the most educated, comfortable, free country in the world today! No, I am not speaking of skyscrapers, automobiles, telephones, hospitals, libraries, colleges, magnificent music that comes to all of us through the medium of the radio, books and lectures, the kiddie cars and express wagons that litter the plainest little lawns before the plainest little cottages in our smallest towns.

No, and I'm not speaking of our freedom—mine to write this; yours to read it. Mine to go to church on Sunday; yours to go on Saturday; our neighbor's—if he feels like it—not to go at all. Our common newspapers' right to say what they think.

I'm speaking of our goodness. Our glorious, inexhaustible goodness, inspired by the only voice that ever spoke in a troubled world—the voice of Jesus Christ. I'm speaking of our eagerness to help friend and ... more luxuries ...

PATRIOTISM

Prompted by the Fourth of July spirit, Miss Norris urges all Americans to proclaim to the world that we are a great people. Not in a boastful, arrogant manner should we flaunt our virtues before others but we should not be reluctant to display self-confidence.

Miss Norris suggests that perhaps the most important by-product of such conduct on our part would be the instilling of confidence into our children. Many American youth praise foreign ways of living because they never have been sufficiently impressed with the tremendous advantages of Americanism.

America does not have to be sold but all Americans should be educated to appreciate and be grateful for their priceless heritage which is the most envied in the entire world.

enemy alike, our pouring out of our riches for the less fortunate in a generosity such as the world never has seen or dreamed before.

Old World Needs Us

The old world, sunk in its own bitterness, wrecked by its own mistakes, depends upon us for life. And it will live. Staggering loans come out of your pockets and mine to stem Europe's and Asia's miseries of hunger and disease. Milk trickles through the complicated back roads of far-away lands to nourish starving babies. We do it gladly. We cannot imagine ourselves doing anything else. But what other nation ever has done it?

Europe comments upon our weaknesses. Like all young nations we display them; we aren't versed in the wisdom that hides the specks on the sun. We hear too much of our crime statistics, the illiteracy of certain mountain settlements, the immodesty of certain films, our waste, our extravagance, our extremes. As if this fluff of scum bore any real proportion to the rich mass of the wholesome jam bubbling beneath!

Just one indication of our national character lies on my desk as I write—or rather 20 indications do. They are the appeals that we Americans take for granted and that exist in no other country in such numbers and such diversity. When the people of our nation support crusades for infantile paralysis and tuberculosis stamps, for Boy and Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Indian missions, cancer study, heart disease prevention, rummage sales, church interests of all sorts, the Salvation Army, scholarships for Negro medical students, children's homes, vacation camps, settlement houses and a thousand other humane and charitable movements to the tune of hundreds of millions of dollars every year, they stand in a class by themselves.

If the greatest of all laws is charity, and we know that it is, then here again—with so many other things—is a truth about ourselves to make us proud of being Americans on this Fourth of July.

Pity Prolongs Life

CHICAGO—Pity your enemies rather than become angry with them and you will live longer, says an eminent heart specialist.

Dr. N. G. Gilbert, professor of medicine at Northwestern university, told volunteer workers in the Chicago Heart association's 1948 campaign to pity persons refusing to contribute but not to get angry with them.

"Heart trouble may be incited by any emotion except pity," he said.

High Blood Pressure

Hardening of Arteries, Pains in Left Arm And Side—

Bank President Johnson of Harlingen, Texas, writes on Feb. 20, 1948:

"Please send another bottle of Liquid Garlic, also send a bottle to my sister-in-law, Mrs. Hulda C. Dutton, 45 Atwater Terrace, Springfield, Mass.

"I have some good reports to make on the effectiveness of garlic used. Mr. Turner, Texaco dealer here has taken two bottles and is much better, his blood pressure down about 60 points. Mrs. W. F. Nelson, of San Benito, who was in bad shape, is also very much better and her blood pressure down considerably. This Garlic works, and you are doing a fine job of producing it for the benefit of those suffering from high blood pressure or heart trouble."

Are YOU Going Thru CHANGE of LIFE?

causing you to suffer from HOT FLUSHES?

Does the functional 'middle-age' period peculiar to women (38-52 yrs.) make you suffer from hot flushes, feel so nervous, high-strung, irritable, weak? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous for this!

Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such 'middle-age' distress. It's what Doctors call a uterine sedative. It positively contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. Pinkham's Compound helps nature (you know what we mean). It's also a great stomachic tonic! Any drugstore.

Strength of Southwest Farm Markets Varies to Dull Over Last Week Report

Strength or firmness on some products varied the generally dull to weak farm market situation in the Southwest during the past week according to a report to The Herald from the United States Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration. Hogs advanced largely $1 to $1.50 including Monday's rise of 75 cents to $1. Good and choice medium weight butchers sold up to $27 at San Antonio, $27.50 at Fort Worth, and $28.50 to $29.50 at other terminals. Most markets took cows at $22 to $23.50 or a little better.

Texas sheep markets showed net gains of around 50 cents for the week, but Denver averaged some decline. Medium and good spring lambs brought $20 to $22.50 at San Antonio, $22 to $24 at Fort Worth and $27 to $30 at Denver. Oklahoma, $25 to $26 at Fort Worth lambs, while good and choice lots made $30 at Kansas City. Average French combing Texas wools began to move to manufacturers at near $1.60 per clean pound.

Cows and calves sold $1 to $2 lower at Houston, and as much as $1 lower at Kansas City and Denver. Medium grass steers went down some at San Antonio. Other Southwest cattle and calves averaged around steady to 50 cents high. Common and medium cows turned Monday at $15.50 to $18.50 at Houston and San Antonio and ranged from $17 to $21.50 at Fort Worth.

Wichita and Kansas City, Oklahoma City paid $20 to $23 for medium and good grades and Denver took common to good from $19 to $23.25.

Current receipt egg sold generally unchanged at close to support levels. Top quality eggs held especially firm at premium prices. Poultry markets continued firm also. Spring chickens moved mainly at 40 to 42 cents a pound and heavy hens at 25 to 28. Denver paid up to 30 cents for heavybreeds and New Orleans to 36.

New crop sorghum grains from South Texas pushed prices down 25 to 33 cents a hundred since a week ago. Oats lost 11 to 12 cents a bushel and barley and yellow corn fell two to six cents. Wheat closed unchanged from last Monday, and white corn recorded the only gain of three and one-half cents. No. 2 yellow milo closed Monday at $2.92 to $3.10 at Texas common points, and white oats $1.17 to $1.19 at Fort Worth.

Cotton declined $3 to $5.50 a bale for the week. Spot middling 15-16 inch closed Monday at 36.15 cents a pound at Dallas, 36.80 at Houston and 35.90 at Galveston and New Orleans.

Mealtime Magic

ORANGE PEACH SHORTCAKE

A dessert deluxe that brings a triumphant finale to a Sunday dinner is luscious, light-as-a-feather shortcake. A delicate orange flavor and juicy, fragrant peaches combine to make this delicious

Orange Peach Shortcake

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup fortified margarine
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
- 1/2 cup milk (about)
- 6 peaches, peeled, cut in pieces and sweetened
- 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Sift flour with baking powder, sugar, and salt. Cut in margarine and grated orange rind until mixture is as fine as meal. Add milk, mixing until a soft dough is formed. Knead lightly about 20 seconds.

Roll to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with 3-inch biscuit cutter. Spread half of the biscuits with margarine and place remaining biscuits on top. Place on baking sheets. Bake in very hot oven (450° F.) 8 to 10 minutes.

Split biscuits and put together with peaches. Top with sweetened whipped cream. Serves 6.

For other taste-tempting recipes write today for your free copy of the two-color, 32-page recipe booklet, "Mealtime Magic," to National Cotton Council, Box 18, Memphis 1, Tenn.

Each week we will try to give The Herald information about the Hamlin Hospital, which we are glad to know is functioning to the satisfaction of all patients who receive medical service therein.

First, we can tell you that Drs. Hocott and Haag, are in their offices or on call every hour of each day, except that Dr. Hocott takes off Wednesday afternoons and Dr. Haag Thursday afternoons.

Second, that a registered nurse is on duty or available by telephone, every hour of the day. The hospital is never closed night or day. An aide is present to take any message, make any call, or do anything needed in an emergency.

Correct information should be well established in the minds of the public and all persons should be careful not to circulate any rumors.

HAMLIN MAN TO WED SW WATER GIRL AUGUST 1

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Mizell of Sweetwater have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Almata, to Richard M. Young, Jr., of Hamlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Young, Sr. Mrs. Mizell gave the announcement dinner Saturday. The ceremony will be read August 1.

Miss Mizell was graduated from Bethany Peniel College in Bethany, Oklahoma, in 1946. She returned to Bethany in January of this year as home economics teacher, and while there was acting head of the department.

Mr. Young was graduated from Hamlin High School and attended Texas Technological College before entering the Army. Since his discharge he has been farming and ranching west of Hamlin.

or "hear-says" that damage our young hospital. The Hamlin Hospital belongs to the people, and it must snap open and grow in usefulness only by being supported by the people of this area. The persons who have used the Hamlin Hospital are the ones qualified to say how they like the services, and any information, honestly sought, can be learned either from such patients or from the management. Nothing is secret if you care to know. It is hurtful to say "so and so is true," when in fact such and such persons said they had "heard a person make a statement that sounded like that, and it must be true."

ANY HOSPITAL POLICY is good at the Hamlin Hospital. Some policies are better than others, and as a matter of fact, a great part of all hospital bills paid at the Hamlin Hospital are paid by insurance companies. If yours is any good, it is good here in Hamlin as well as anywhere in the USA.

Two things every family should have in this Hamlin community:—First, be a member of the hospital

This charming hat and purse combination made by the young lady herself is untouched by needle and thread — hot iron mending tape holds the seams on the starched cotton bag material used in the accessory pair. With a couple of empty cotton flour bags, nine packages of hot iron mending tape, and a pair of scissors—plus a little effort and ingenuity—she has new accessories for an afternoon party.

Jeannine Johnston Slated to Appear in H-SU Play July 5th

According to a report Miss Jeannine Johnston of Hamlin will have a leading role in one of the five one-act plays to be presented by University Players of Hardin-Simmons University Monday evening, July 5, Dr. Katharine Boyd, head of the H-SU department of speech, announced this week.

Miss Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Johnston will be in "The Bad Penny." She is a senior student at Hardin-Simmons.

The evening's entertainment begins at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Dr. Boyd said, in Room 202 of Abilene Hall. Others cast in "The Bad Penny" are Fleur Walton of Abilene, and Charles Powell of San Angelo. Kyleen Blackberry of Coleman will direct.

WIZARD OF FINANCE

Bernard M. Baruch, the very symbol of prudence and thrift, lost his roll out of his pockets at a race track. The wad, $2,200, was found by a track attendant and returned to the elder statesman. It proved once again that Baruch is long on luck. But it left America feeling low.

That this famous American, whose every word on finance has been clung to as almost the ultimate authority on sagacity, could, even before he reached the betting windows at a race track, lose his roll came as a hard blow to people everywhere. On all sides one heard the cry, "Well, whadda-ya know about that!"

Men who for years had listened to him give sage advice on money matters were stunned. Women who had taunted their husbands a thousand times with, "Did you read what Baruch said about safeguarding money? Why can't you be like him?" swooned. Young people who had seen his picture so often under the caption, "Warns Country to Guard Its Funds," shook their heads. Senators and representatives who had formed a habit of sending for Baruch when they wanted the straight dope on financial stability reeled and groaned.

Other people, we had all thought, could in the excitement of a gala outing in a crowded place, whip out and drop their roll while fumbling for a ticket, green sheet, notes on good things, pencils, programs, et cetera, but not Bernard M. Baruch! Never!

We could picture plenty of men carrying their money carelessly, even to the point of a wallet only halfway in the pocket, but not B. M. B.! Baruch gave the finder a reward of $500 and delivered a few brief words of gratitude, but the public is not satisfied.

To restore his prestige he must issue a statement reassuring the American public, the U. S. senate, the house of representatives and all federal economic bodies.

If there is any place to show prudence and caution it is at a race track. Baruch loses his dough BEFORE he even gets down a bet! Impossible! This department, which has been following his advice on money for years, prefers to think it was all a stunt; that he was merely conducting an honesty test. Or that, as a lover of racing, he was trying to offset the bad press it has been getting.

At any rate, speak up, Baruch, and let us have the full details. You don't want husbands everywhere answering a wife's caustic, "Why can't you be more careful with your money?" with a firm, "Aw, look at Bernard Baruch!" do you?

Horse Racing Ethics

"It must be remembered that it is the theory of the pari-mutuel system that the track is a stakeholder only. It receives a commission on the amount wagered and has no interest in the outcome of a race. When it is required to contribute to a minus pool by allowing place and show betting and bears a loss, the effect is to give the track an interest in the outcome of a race, although it has no chance of winning."—Maryland racing commission.

Let's keep the race track operators from being put in the awful position of having a slight interest in horse racing by all means.

Customs Officers Use Mirrors for Smuggler Search

NEW YORK.—Day and night, squads of armed men carrying flashlights and pocket mirrors swarm aboard ships entering New York harbor.

The alert, eagle eyed men of the United States customs enforcement division don't carry the glassware from milady's bag to use in combing their hair or prettifying their features. Pocket mirrors are standard equipment in the grim, unrelenting war on narcotic smuggling.

Placed strategically, a mirror shows up what may be ingeniously hidden behind a lavatory washbowl, a seaman's bunk, or in the machinery of the ship's intricate engine room.

Vigilance of these customs officers has paid off handsomely. In the last year they've confiscated contraband drugs valued at several million dollars in the illicit market, said Harry M. Durning, United States customs collector for the New York port.

N.Y. a "Hot" Port
New York, in law enforcement parlance, is a "hot" port—about the hottest in the world.

International smugglers have renewed efforts to penetrate port surveillance with narcotics for American dope peddling rings. History, said veteran port officials, is repeating itself. A postwar resurgence of narcotic smuggling is comparable to the one after World War I.

Collector Durning attributes the alarming increase to a breakdown of prewar safeguards abroad, worldwide unrest and unsettled economic conditions and the age old desire for quick, high profits.

In tightening their vigil against smuggling, customs officers pay particular attention to all ships coming from French and Mediterranean ports. That's where, they said, most shipments of illicit drugs originate.

Ships from Britain and Ireland, the officers said, seldom figure in drug smuggling. Always suspect, however, said Herman Lipski, chief of the United States customs enforcement division, are vessels coming from Naples, Genoa, Marseille, Le Havre and Antwerp.

Seize Big Catch
Lipski's men recently scored their biggest catch of the year when they discovered narcotics valued at one million dollars secreted about a ship from Le Havre.

One bundle of drugs was found in the ship's galley at the bottom of a full barrel of flour. Another batch, encased in a waterproof bag, reposed in a soup tureen full of water. Other packages were discovered inside the lining of the ship's oven and in a box of sea biscuits.

Another recent haul came when shore patrol officers under Durning raided the basement of a dingy water front tenement. They found 36 ounces of narcotics and complete equipment for testing, diluting and preparing drugs for illicit sale to addicts.

In a drainpipe in the basement they found $18,000 in cash and a pistol. From a man caught fleeing the basement they confiscated four more ounces of drugs. Total value of the catch was placed at $200,000.

R-H COTTON DUST

Gives excellent control of thrips, tarnished plant bugs and flea hoppers when dusted early and permits cotton to hold early fruit and set an early crop. In Bollweevil control, R-H Dust has been found to give a high degree of kill of Bollweevils within cotton squares, in addition to the kill of adult Bollweevils.

R-H Dust has proven to be very effective for the control of the bollworm, army worm, web worm, grape colaspis, ants, bean leaf beetle and grasshoppers.

R-H Dust has a very low toxicity to warm-blooded animals. R-H Dust is very economical in cost per pound as measured by all season control.

R-H Dust does not burn or adversely affect foliage on any of the common farm crops.

Veterans' News

The questions and answers below about veteran problems are carried as a service to former service connected personnel by The Herald. Material for the column is supplied by the area office of the Veterans Administration at Lubbock.

Q. When is National Service Life Insurance considered lapsed?

A. It is lapsed when a veteran fails to make a payment of premium within 31 days from the date it was due.

Q. If I do not receive National Service Life Insurance premium notices or receipts promptly, should I continue to send my premiums?

A. Yes. You also should clearly identify your payments by giving your insurance policy number, but if that is not available, you should give your rank, organization and your service serial number.

Q. If I filed a change of address with the VA hospital or regional office where my claims folder is on file, will the same change be made on my insurance records?

A. No. Change of address for purpose of compensation or pension is not a notice of change of address for insurance purposes. VA Form 889, "Change of Address," should be executed by the insured to notify the Insurance Service in the appropriate branch office.

Q. When may a veteran decide whether he will pursue training under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (G.I. Bill) or under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act?

A. After eligibility has been established under both laws.

Athlete's Foot Ranks Third in Skin Disease

"Few, if any, people have escaped the inconvenience and the annoyance of athlete's foot. It is said to be the third most common skin disease of the summer, and contrary to popular opinion, the fifth most prevalent disorder in the winter."

So says Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer in Austin, in a recent press release. Dr. Cox explains that athlete's foot is due to a small, mold-like growth or fungus which thrives on moist, warm parts of the body such as the feet.

"The infection of athlete's foot is usually gotten directly or indirectly from someone else," Dr. Cox says, cautioning that the most likely places to contract the infection are around bath houses, locker rooms, and other public places where people go barefoot.

"It is probable that at least one-half of all adults suffer from the infection at some time."

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood. If good health is to endure, the blood the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause nagging backache, drowsiness, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Farmers Asked to Contact T.E.C. if Workers Needed

Cotton farmers of the Hamlin area are urged to contact the Texas Employment Commission whenever they need cotton choppers or other farm workers. The Stamford TEC office serves both agricultural and non-agricultural employers in Jones, Haskell, Throckmorton, Stonewall, Clay, Beaver, manager emphasized today.

In preparations for handling local and migratory labor during the cotton harvest season the local TEC office is now conducting an extensive survey among the farmers in the four counties served by the office. In this survey it is hoped to obtain information concerning acreage, housing facilities available, number of workers needed for an average crop harvest, with other necessary information toward rendering a much needed service to the individual farmers and to the community as a whole. He stated further that the office is receiving excellent cooperation from farmers, ginners and others who are being contacted.

Farmers, needing any type of workers, are urged to place their orders with the Stamford TEC office or call 52. Several crews of cotton choppers are now available through the office, Beaver concluded.

HEADS TEXAS JAYCEES—Melvin B. Evans, young Wichita Falls businessman, this week assumed the presidency of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, largest in the nation. President Evans pledged that during the coming year the more than 15,000 Texas Jaycees would greatly expand their programs of service to the community. To carry out this project he urged all young men in Texas to join their local Junior Chambers or, where none have been organized, to call on him for assistance in organizing new Jaycee chapters.

Declaration of Independence!

He's on his own. It's a wonderful feeling. He can go places now. And he'll keep on going places all his life—as long as he keeps his sense of independence.

That's America's richest resource—not forest, field or mine, but the spirit of her people. Ambition, energy, self-reliance are the reasons why individuals—and industries—grow great from small beginnings.

Take the electric industry—this company, for example. A few practical dreamers opened up an "electric frontier" when in 1915 they strung the first transmission power lines in West Texas. People of faith and vision risked their savings. Other folks combined skill and hard work to produce better and better service—at lower and lower costs—creating more and more jobs—and carrying the benefits of electric living to more and more West Texans.

That's the American way of progress. Free enterprise, vision, and hard work. They are what built America and the American way of life, which is the highest standard of living in the world.

No nation has ever found a satisfactory substitute for that combination. No nation ever will.

Red Cross Blood Plan Designed to Benefit Public

The Red Cross National Blood Program is designed to bring the benefits of blood and blood products eventually to EVERYBODY, everywhere in the nation.

Medical authorities estimate that at least 3,700,000 pints of blood will be required each year to meet the nation's need in blood therapy. This demand results from remarkable discoveries made in recent years about blood and its uses in the prevention and treatment of disease.

Today there are approximately 6,000 hospitals in the United States. Only one out of every five has a private blood bank. There is no provision for an adequate supply of blood in case of a national emergency. That is why the nation's medical, health, and hospital authorities decided with the Army and Navy that a national Blood Program is needed.

The American National Red Cross is regarded as the most appropriate agency to operate such a program (1) because of its World War II achievement in collecting more than 13,000,000 pints of blood for our fighting men, and (2) because it is already organized in every county of every state of the

(By N. H. Kincaid, 2618 History St. Abilene, Texas—Copyrighted)

GUARDIANS OF THE FRONTIER

Standing at the mouth of Gyp Creek in Kent county was an old China tree, marked with a peculiar defacement. One of its branches had been torn off in such a way that the stump was a sharp-pointed prong. And it was this prong that helped white a story of the early West; a story whose origin was 150 miles away on Sand Creek in western Brown county, just east of the Santa Anna mountain. It was a story of the Bill Williams family, and of Big Foot and his Kiowa braves.

The incident occurred in 1873. Just 75 years ago this coming December. Little 12 year old Nina Williams had gone with her mother to the cow lot to do the milking. "Let's take the baby with us, Nina," the mother had said. "He is such an active little fellow he might pull the covers over his face and smother, if left alone."

As Mother was choosing the site to place the baby so that she could watch him as she milked, Nina scurried about for wood and chips for a small fire. The two men folks of the family had left home quite early in order to cut rails down on Jim Ned Creek.

Nina held the baby while Mother built the fire. "Just look at Susie, bawling and squawling for his mother," Nina told the sleepy baby as she pointed out the eager little calf. As Mother placed the baby on the blanket, Nina ran and opened the gate for the waiting cow. Quickly finishing her chores, she then straightened the baby's cover and added the remaining chips to the fire. "Mother, I'll go get some more wood," she called as she clambered happily over the lot fence.

But Nina wandered farther than she had planned and didn't return immediately. A few remaining bright colored leaves down in the draw had caught her attention and she knew that Mother would enjoy their gaily. "Mother does so like pretty things, and she has such a few of them," she told herself as she hurried back towards the cow lot, her arms loaded.

But midway she paused, startled, and listened. There was no doubt about it; that was the baby, and he was screaming as though in pain. Breaking into a run she soon rounded a corner of the small stockade-type shed and stopped—horror-stricken.

There before her, just mounting their horses for departure, was a small group of Indians. But yonder, through the rails of the cow lot, Nina glimpsed her mother. Her body, slumped forward, was studded with arrows. Nearby lay the baby in a naked, mangled heap.

It was Nina's scream that drew the Indians' attention to her. Stopping, one swooped her up onto the horse with him as he hurried to join the others; and Nina's load of sticks and pretty cluster of leaves dropped to the ground, unnoticed.

Throughout the morning they lay there. To her brother, returning home about noon, they were another link in the horrible chain of tragedy served as a mute clue to her disappearance. The alarm was sounded and a hastily formed posse took up the trail of the Indians. It led north westward into Kent county, and finally was so close that the Indians became desperate.

When the posse found her body it was swinging, impaled to the China tree, with the prong protruding from the neck. Tenderly they laid her to rest near the young tree, and the lonely little grave became the concern of those pioneer settlers around present Claiborne.

"We, the Jay boys, built a brush fence around the grave in 1884 and looked after it for years," recalls Joe Jay, present Abilene real estate man and a founder of Jayton. "But it was that gnarled old China tree, standing there like a

Knox County Hospital Will Open New $50,000 Annex Early in July

Knox County Hospital, owned by the citizens of Knox City, will have its capacity increased when a new $50,000 annex is open to the public early in July, according to an announcement reaching The Herald office.

The addition, adjoining the original building on the west, has been under construction for several months.

Question of asking for donations of Knox County citizens to furnish the new building was answered with reproach when a committee of citizens and the Knox County Commissioners Court in a joint session a few nights ago proclaimed "a rich county like ours needs, not beg donations." The county appropriated enough funds to insure the very best equipment. However, persons wishing to give to the institution are not discouraged.

Recently Mrs. E. B. Bowden, of Munday, gave the hospital $300 to furnish the superintendent's office. The fund was given for herself and her two sons, Ira and B. B.

POT-SHOTS FROM McCAULLEY

GEORGE DARDEN

(Too late for last week)

Mrs. J. A. Jackson of Hamlin, and formerly of this city, mails us her check for another year's subscription to The Herald. Thanks.

Mrs. Sim A. Reeves and daughter Mary from Fort Stockton are visiting her twin sister, Mrs. Geo. Darden and family in McCaulley.

A large crowd attended the show Sainly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners presented by the McCaulley Cemetery committee. The cast which included a group of Sweetwater business men and women, along with that great showman, Harley Sadler, was appreciated by the large crowd who attended. Total admission was $130.18 which was deposited in the cemetery account at the F&M Bank.

Howard Miers of Lamesa visited last weekend with his father and other relatives in this community.

Harley Sadler and the group from Sweetwater who played in the show at the local Gym last Friday night were guests in the George Darden home after the entertainment for a fried chicken dinner. Co-hostesses were Mrs. B. F. Kemp, Mrs. Roy Hennington and Mrs. Frank Kemp. Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. W. H. Pickron Jr., of Shreveport, La., and her sister, Margaret Darden, and Mrs. Sim Reeves of Fort Stockton, twin sister of the hostess. Fifty guests, including the Sweetwater group, enjoyed "gobs" of fried chicken, salads, hot rolls, punch, cake, coffee and home-made ice cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Herbst and children visited last Sunday with relatives in Breckenridge.

Cecil C. Collings from Howard county, now district judge of the district which includes Howard county, has announced for Associate Justice Court of Civil Appeals.

Several Fisher county candidates attended the show last Friday night at the Ed Mason Gym. Attending were Lamont Haley, for representative; R. L. Wilkins, present sheriff and up for re-election; May Bell White, for county clerk; Neely Morton, for district clerk; O. B. Williams, for sheriff; A. E. Crowley, for county judge; Ellen Kelley Key, for district clerk and M. O. Campbell, candidate for county clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Darden, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Darden and daughter from Girard visited last Sunday at the George Darden home.

Ben F. Bailey Is Given Recommendation by State Prison Man

The following is a letter written to Ben F. Bailey, candidate for Jones County Sheriff.

"Ben F. Bailey, "Anson, Texas.

"Dear Ben—I understand you are running for Sheriff of Jones County. I have often remarked what a good jailer you were. If you are half as good sheriff, when elected, the people of Jones County will have a sheriff they will be proud of. I do not know who is in the race for sheriff, but I do know you will make a good one.

"When I stayed at your jail with prisoners, I went to the hotel and went to sleep because I knew they would be there the next morning. You were always good to the boys and always fed them good.

"I do not want to give anyone a rap, but I do hope you are elected sheriff.

"Your friend, "BUD RUSSELL."

The above is a very high recommendation, coming from "Uncle Bud Russell, retired transfer agent for the Texas Prison System.

Ben F. Bailey was jailer under Jim Lee Gordon, ex-sheriff of Jones County. Bailey served for 38 months as jailer and had a perfect record insofar as there were no attempted jail breaks. (adv)

It's funny how folks get use to a column and when same fails to appear in print there is a lot of questions. Maybe it's because our column is always on the back page. Maybe folks like it whether they agree or disagree, anyway we write our frank opinions on topics of the day whether its digestible or not.

Between two and three inches of rain fell in McCaulley Sunday night and Monday and still raining at this writing.
